Court Rules Panel Can't Equalize County Levies

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court today ruled that the state tax commission does not have authority to equalize assessments within a county.

The high court made permanent an alternative writ of prohibition requested by Chastains, Inc., a Lewiston drug firm, barring the tax commission from interfering with the Nez Perce county assessment on the firm's merchandise.

Justice Darwin Thomas in the court's opinion said "while . . . the constitution gives the state board the power to supervise and coordinate the work of county boards of equalization to the end that harmonious results may be produced and to oversee and inspect the equalization made by county boards it does not give the power, judicial in its character, to control the action of the respective county boards in equalizing the valuations within the county." Justice Thomas declared that in the state constitution "the duty is specifically enjoined upon the county board of equalization to equalize the valuation of taxable property in the county.

Cannot Interfere

"Such rules and regulations (of the tax commission) must not be of such character to interfere essentially with the constitutional duty of the county board of equalization under the authority and duty enjoined by the constitution."

The Nez Perce county assessor assessed merchandise inventories of Nez Perce county business as 30 per cent of cash value for the 1951 taxable year. The county board of equalization raised it to 33 per cent to be in line with other properties in the county. The state tax commission then ordered the assessment raised to 39.9 per cent to be in line with merchandise inventory assessments in other counties.

The Lewiston drug firm brought action contending that it would be compelled to pay a greater proportion of the tax of said county than will other property owners."

County Upheld

Justice Thomas said "if the county board of equalization has no authority to increase the percentage of valuation of any class or item of property within the county to a greater percentage than that at which all other property is equalized within the county, then to sanction the action of the state tax commission to raise the equalized value of merchandise inventory . . . would operate to do violence to the con-

1,500 Grangers Are Expected At State Parley; Halls Changed

BURLEY, Dec. 1—With 1,500 Idaho Grangers expected to attend their state convention here, Minidoka and Cassia county Pomona Grange members have changed their plans and now have scheduled all business sessions in the Y-Dell ballroom. The business sessions originally were scheduled in the Elks building and the IOOF hall.

Arrangements have been made for transportation to and from the Y-Dell, according to Carl Schrock, publicity chairman.

Schrock also reported adequate housing has been arranged for delegates from all parts of Idaho to the convention which opens Sunday and ends Thursday. Burley stores will remain open until 9 p.m. Monday to accommodate the delegates.

Registration was scheduled to start at 10 a.m. Sunday at convention headquarters in the National hotel. A banquet for lecturers will be served in the hotel's dining room and a mixer is scheduled at the Y-Dell with music by Kay Clark's orchestra.

Degree Work Set

Officers of the host Pomona Grangers are urging all their subordinate Grange members who are not sixth degree members to take the degree during the convention. The fourth degree will be conferred by the Raft River Grange.

The Claremont Juvenile Grange will stage degree work. Fifth degree work will be conducted by the Minidoka Pomona Grange and the sixth degree will be conferred by the Cassia Pomona Grange.

State Officers

State officers who will assist with the sixth degree include W. E. Adams, master; Fred Jessup, overseer; Mrs. Ruth Bruner, lady assistant steward; Mrs. Hattie Hull and Mrs. Otto Mueller, chaplain; T. C. Gregg, treasurer; Erwin G. Harris, secretary; Glenn Kunkel, gatekeeper; Mrs. M. Maxwell, Ceres; Mrs. Will Huff, Pomona, and Mrs. Ruth Bruner, flora.

Local Grangers are boosting Vard Chatburn, Albion, for selection as a state executive committeeman.

Big 4 Starts Talks On Arms Cut Plans

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Smiling and unusually cordial, high-level delegates of the big four powers started secret talks intended to develop some agreement on rival east-west disarmament plans.

They met for an hour with the president of the United Nations general assembly, Luis Padilla Nervo, Mexico, who is to preside in all the discussions. The session, held in Padilla Nervo's canary yellow office, concerned procedure only. The group agreed to get down to business at 10:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. MST) Monday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was the highest ranking official of the big four present. U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, British minister of state Selwyn Lloyd and French Delegate Jules Moch represented the western powers.

Meeting Cordial

Padilla Nervo said the atmosphere was so cordial he considered it a good omen. He announced the group agreed on every single point he raised about the work, on which a report must be made to the U.N. political committee by Dec. 10. He did not explain what points he raised, but it was understood they concerned only how to tackle the monumental job.

Ironically, the group is a subcommittee of the political committee. The political committee set it up by unanimous vote yesterday after two weeks of dragging debate and sharp east-west clashes.

No Hint on Plans

There was no hint whether they will tackle first the three-power plan for arms limitation put up by Britain, France and the United State, the Russian amendments sponsored by Vishinsky or some completely new idea yet to be disclosed. The meeting of the big four represents the expressed wish of most of the small countries in the U.N., who are worried about the hot international temperature.

Too Late Now— Snow, Cold and No Palm Trees

Lightning struck Twin Falls shortly after midnight Sunday and the resulting thunder shook down both snow and rain whipped in by high winds.

HAILEY, Dec. 1—Galena is snowed in.

Mrs. Pearl Barber, Galena's year around resident who this year planned to spend the winter in California, guesses maybe she'll stay home. Six inches of snow fell at Galena Friday night and Saturday morning and plugged all the roads.

Mrs. Barber said the wind whipped the snow into a frenzy and plastered all the windows in her store and home. She said the roads and trails are blocked "so maybe I'll stay here all this winter after all."

The small community now has 36 inches of snow on the ground, Mrs. Barber say, and more is expected.

Ketchum has nine inches of snow on the ground, six of which fell Friday night. In Hailey the snow started with rain at midnight but by 6 a.m. Saturday it had turned to snow. The city now has 13 inches of snow on the ground.

Driver Loses His License; Others Fined

Ardon Ambrose, route 1, Jerome, was fined $25 and his driving license was suspended for 30 days Thursday by Jerome Justice of the Peace Cecil Stanhope on a charge of reckless driving.

Ambrose was arrested by Policeman Murrell Blackmon after Ambrose had gone a dead-end street sign and had driven his automobile across one ditch and through two fences.

Speeder Fined

In Twin Falls police court Friday, Robert D. Weggeland, 551 Fourth avenue east, was fined $10 and costs for speeding. He was cited by police for driving 40 to 45 miles an hour on Fourth avenue north.

Gene L. Glenn, 302 Second avenue south, paid $15 and costs for running a stop sign. Glenn told officers he expected only a warning on the first offense. Officers pointed out he failed to make any attempt to stop or slow down when he knew of the stop sign.

License Suspended

LaMont [illegible], 121 Taylor street, lost his driver's license until Dec. 31 when he appeared before Twin Falls Probate Judge S. T. Hamilton morning on a charge of speeding. The youth was cited earlier Saturday morning by city police for driving 40 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone on Shoshone street north.

Charles Perry Hanchey, 611 Main avenue north, paid a fine of $15 and $3 costs in Twin Falls justice court Friday afternoon after pleading guilty of speeding. He was cited by a state patrolman at 8 p. m. Thursday and charged with driving 73 miles per hour on Second avenue north.

Dallas Mystified By Big Explosion

DALLAS, Dec. 1 (AP)—An explosion heard in most of the 893 square miles of Dallas county tonight at 8:52 p.m. (CST) left authorities mystified.

No one was able to locate the origin of the blast. Squads of police, firemen and sheriff's deputies were unable to turn up a single clue. Reporters and curious citizens who roamed the streets searching for the site were baffled.

The concussion was felt in downtown Dallas. It was reported from the suburbs of Irving, Garland, Mesquite and Richardson.

Switchboards at newspapers, radio stations and the police and fire stations were jammed.

U. S. Seeks to Avoid Special Aid Requests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Officials said today the Truman administration will do everything it can with funds already in hand in order to avoid asking congress for a special foreign aid appropriation early next year.

This was the response, somewhat indignantly given, to questions raised by a French official's statement in connection with the assistance which his government expects to get from the United States.

Sees Aid Plea

Information Minister Robert Buron told reporters in Paris that France had been assured that $600,000,000 would be made available from the U. S. and because of that "I think the U. S. administration will have to ask congress for more aid."

The reaction here was not against the sum of $600,000,000, but rather Buron's suggestion that congress would be called on to vote new funds. This was regarded here as needless advice from a foreign official as to what the administration should do in its relations with congress. It seemed likely there would be a complaint lodged with the French embassy.

British Need Aid

The more serious possibility of a special appropriations request has been discussed in connection with Britain's financial plight, coming on top of the French crisis and the lesser needs of all the other countries which are qualified to receive American economic aid in support of their defense programs.

Wilson Holds Arms Parley With Truman

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson came here today for afternoon talks with President Truman on the controversial matter of how the arms program is faring, and decided to extend his stay until tomorrow.

The pace of re-armament progress has been criticized in congress and upheld at the pentagon in Washington. There was no explanation of the *conferences except for this state*ment from the "little White House."

"After a long conference with the President, Mr. Wilson has decided to remain overnight and will leave tomorrow afternoon."

Wilson flew down from Washington and drove immediately to the naval submarine station to join the President and his staff for lunch.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said the President spent much of his daily swim to have a long conference with his staff and read a series of reports and other documents requiring his personal attention.

Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, who flew down yesterday to confer with Mr. Truman, remained over today to continue their talks and to make his second fishing trip, this time with Maj.-Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's physician.

Wilson predicted in Washington yesterday that the United States will reach the peak of its military production in 1953.

Mining Conclave Asks More Curbs On Labor Unions

SPOKANE, Dec. 1 (AP)—More than a score of resolutions calling for, among other things, more federal checks on labor unions and easing the tax burden on the mine operators were approved today by some 500 delegates to the northwest mining association convention.

Resolutions on labor unions were aimed primarily against any communist influence.

They asked that the justice department be required to prosecute for perjury all union officials who swear falsely in signing non-communist affidavits, and publish a list of all labor groups classified as communist dominated.

Also, any unions on the list should be denied the privileges of dues check-off and any rights under the labor - management relations act, the resolution decided.

Another resolution declared the union shop and other forms of compulsory unionism create a labor monopoly and should be outlawed.

Prisoners Taken To Idaho Prison

Paul Howry, sentenced to life in the state penitentiary, was taken from the Twin Falls county jail to the penitentiary at 1 p.m. Saturday by a police wagon from the prison.

Accompanying Howry was his wife and accomplice, Mrs. Eddie Mae Gooch Howry, who was sentenced to not more than 15 years on the same charge, and Floyd DeLozier, sentenced to not more than 14 years for forgery.

Hells Canyon Hit, Palisades Favored By Farm Conclave

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Idaho Farm Bureau federation came out for early construction of Palisades dam but members wrangled among themselves before finally resolving to oppose Hells canyon dam. The federation ended a three-day convention here today.

Opposition to Hells canyon was based on its ineffectiveness as a flood control project while supporters for the dam claimed it would provide cheap electric power for southern Idaho where private enterprise cannot do the job.

The convention also approved, with a lone dissenting vote, a resolution from the floor calling for the repeal of the law pertaining to agriculture prohibiting children under 14 years of age from working in sugar beet fields. The resolutions committee had previously discarded the resolution from its list at 41 submitted to the convention.

The farm bureau asked the federal government to increase the work week for federal employes from 40 to 48 hours on the same pay "to provide more workers for the farms and other essential industries."

Power to Coast

Jesse Meadows, American Falls, told the group that "Hells canyon built now in Idaho when the state can't utilize the power only means that the power will be shipped to the coast."

Support for Hells canyon came from Clay Sutton, Midvale, who said "the Idaho Power company can't possibly construct Hells canyon within the next 10 or 20 years."

The federation resolution opposing Hells canyon read in part:

Hells canyon is not a reclamation project, but a flood control project and complete flood control on Snake river above Hells canyon can be accomplished by addition of two or three upstream dams already investigated by the U. S. bureau of reclamation and these dams would impound flood water for future reclamation and ...

Private Capital Ready

Whereas

"Private capital is ready and willing to develop power in the lower Snake river valley and taxes would be paid rather than expended on such development. The economy of our state is based on the operation of private enterprise in developing natural resources unhampered by government competition and interference."

Other resolutions passed by the convention include:

Discontinuance of all incentive payments under the soil conservation program of the production and marketing authority.

Investigation of new changes in Bang's disease control program as is now carried on in Wisconsin.

The sale of marijuana be made a major criminal offense and upon

13 Rupert Children Testifying in Probe

RUPERT, Dec. 1—Sordid tales of promiscuity by teenage, grade school children, mostly in parked automobiles and along canal banks, are being unfolded here in probate court as a result of a long investigation into the conduct of Rupert youths.

Probate Judge Jake Wall, who is taking the testimony, emphasizes that none of the 13 children or their parents are under arrest but that his probe into the sordid details is to determine what is to be done with the youths. The hearings climax a three-month investigation by Rupert police, probation officials and Minidoka county prosecutor's office.

The children, 12 to 15 years old, may be charged with delinquency as a result of the investigations. Some of the parents may be charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The story, as it unfolds in probate court, is one of broken homes, working parents, undisciplined children and "petting" parties along the banks of the canals and in parked automobiles. It is the story of lewd conduct on the part of small children, cigarette smoking, late hours and improper examples and neglect by parents.

Rupert and Minidoka county officials have known of the condition in Rupert for some time but have been unable to do anything about it because of the press of other duties. But when Louis Spain became probation officer last August he was requested by the court to make a thorough investigation.

Judge Wall gives Deputy constables and the probation officer credit for ferreting the case and bringing the children and their parents into probate court. He added that the success of the investigation also was brought about through the cooperation of some of the juveniles.

The children, he added, have been much more cooperative than their parents. Judge Wall blames the attitude of the parents, "Did you have any knowledge of where your child was or what he or she was doing?"

Most of the parents showed no interest whatever, some seemed to resent the "intrusion" of the court and officials.

At the conclusion of the investigation, Judge Wall said, information will be filed on the basis of the facts found. To some of the children it may mean reform school. To others it may mean turning them over to their parents under promises by parents to take better care of their children. In some instances the children may be placed in homes of relatives.

Judge Wall is making no statements as to which course or how many different courses he will take after investigation is completed. He is reserving decision in all hear-

Commissioners For 7 Counties To Study Plans

A meeting of county commissioners from seven Magic Valley counties has been called by L. W. Hawkins, chairman of Twin Falls county commissioners, at the suggestion of L. A. Peterson who is administrative director of the Idaho department of public health.

Hawkins yesterday said the purpose of the meeting is to consider establishment of the position of a medical director for the south central district health unit, proposed by the public health department. He urged commissioners to attend to make their wishes known.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Twin Falls courthouse. Commissioners from Blaine, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln and Minidoka counties have been invited to meet with the Twin Falls county commissioners. Funds from these seven counties, plus funds from state, city and school district sources, support the local health unit.

6 Chamber Directors Elected; Annual Dinner Meet Planned

New Chamber of Commerce directors and plans for the annual dinner meeting were announced Saturday by Howard Moffat, secretary-manager.

The six new directors are Clarence Ford, Victor Pfiffet, Ben C. Mottern, Kenneth Longballa, Harry Soverin and Jack H. Levander. John Augerbauer was selected chairman of the Merchants' bureau.

After taking office Jan. 1, the new members will serve with present members of the board, Hugh Phillips, Jack Smith, Fred Read, John Roper, O. A. Kelker and Ivan Skinner.

A meeting of the board will be held next week, according to Moffat, to elect officers and discuss plans for 1952.

Dr. Adam C. Bennion, Salt Lake City, vice president of the Utah Power company, will be guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting Dec. 11 at the Turf club.

Accomplishments of the chamber during the past year will be reported by Guy Ryman, retiring president, and the new president will receive the gavel.

New directors also will be introduced at the dinner and committee chairmen announced. Other details of the program will be announced later, Moffat said.

New Hall for Buhl Masons Is Dedicated

BUHL, Dec. 1—Formal dedication of the new Masonic temple here took place Saturday afternoon under the direction of Idaho grand lodge officers.

Beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday when the new building was opened for public inspection, the dedication program included a grand lodge session in the old building, a procession to move ritual paraphernalia to the new temple, followed by dedication ceremonies late Saturday afternoon.

Speaks at Banquet

The Rev. F. W. Wertz was the principal speaker at a banquet Saturday night using as his topic, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it."

Ray F. Brookhart, master of the grand lodge, presided at the opening session at the old building and led the procession to the new temple. Walter Todd, master of the Buhl lodge, welcomed members and guests on behalf of the local organization and Mary Tuck, matron of the Buhl chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, performed a similar function for her group.

History Presented

An early history of the Buhl lodge was given by J. H. Barker, past grand high priest of the Royal Arch Masons of Idaho.

Program for the evening banquet was opened with a prayer by John A. Brown. James R. Shields, jr., was toastmaster at the banquet. Following the Rev. Mr. Wertz' address, C. D. Boring gave benediction.

Committee on arrangements for the dedication were James Hart, Joseph A. Clark, Frank Chandler, Margaret Aldrich, Ada Huston, Maude Goodhue and John H. Rhoads. Taking part in the various ceremonies in the temple were members of lodge No. 63, AF and AM, chapter No. 38, Order of Eastern Star, chapter No. 21 Royal Arch Masons and bethel No. 21 Order of Job's Daughters.

J. William Roberts, member of the temple building committee, summarized the project. On his committee were John H. Barker, James Hart, Lloyd E. Byrne, Donavan C. Brannen and Todd.

Panel Plans More Tax Case Checks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—House tax investigators will dig into "two or three" more cases next week in checking on the activities of Theron Lamar Caudle, recently fired as head of the justice department's tax division.

Adrian Dewind, counsel for the ways and means subcommittee, told reporters that the additional cases will be explored but he declined to give any details.

Indications are, however, that one is to be brought under scrutiny is a $400,000 tax evasion case against the now dissolved Gulf Coast Tobacco company, Mobile, Ala.

Caudle has denied published reports that he sought to discourage prosecution of the case.

Jordan Basin Plan Refused By Montanan

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 1 (AP)—Montana's acting governor today turned thumbs down on a proposal that the state's take over development of the Columbia river basin, financed by private capital.

But Paul Cannon made it clear that he isn't satisfied with the present development program, either.

"It is extremely doubtful if basin development by the states would result in any great benefit to Montana," he told the Associated Press when asked about the proposal of Gov. Len Jordan, Idaho.

The public utilities are seemingly having no difficulty holding their own with the federal agencies in this state," Cannon went on.

"In fact, Montana's major private utility competitor, Anaconda, has succeeded in supplanting the Bonneville power administration as the marketing agency for Montana's largest dams, being constructed with federal funds—Hungry Horse and Canyon Ferry.

Utilities Doing Well

"The private utilities in Montana are doing right well under the government public power program. As rapidly as the dams are completed, they have entered the marketing, sale and use of power generated."

It would be "foolhardy" for Montana to "even attempt to discuss the proposal until we set our own house in order and create an official state planning and development department with the authority to study and coordinate all phases of Montana's water power and industrial development," Cannon concluded.

However, he, too, had fault to find with the present federal development program of the basin.

Official Visit

JEROME, Dec. 1—Santa Claus made his first official visit to Jerome Friday night, arriving at the airport by airplane and being transported about the city on the fire truck. His airplane landed at 8 p.m.

Santa rode up and down Jerome's streets on the fire truck and stopped in most of the stores. Wherever he went he dispensed treats to the small children and transported about the city by balloons.

Pedestrians Advised to Wait on Curb For Traffic Light Change; Signs Set

Police and city officials are becoming concerned with the problem of the inching pedestrian who steps off the curb to wait for traffic lights to change, thus endangering himself and slowing up traffic.

They point out it is becoming particularly serious during the Christmas shopping season when there are more pedestrians and more cars in the business district.

To meet the problem, a program of education is planned to show pedestrians should remain on the curbs and not step several inches or worse yet, several feet—into traffic lanes on the street. The education program will be backed by enforcement of city ordinances governing the violation and downtown patrolmen will be instructed to be especially watchful.

"Wait on the Curb" will be stenciled at all corners of business district street intersections controlled by traffic lights. Additional corrective plans are being worked out between the police department and Fred O'Dell, designated as the city engineering department member to work with police on traffic engineering problems.

Police point out pedestrians as well as motorists are governed by traffic lights, particularly the walk-or-wait lights at those intersections having them. The ordinance requires pedestrians to wait on the curbs.

Aside from the danger, to themselves, those who inch out into the street, against a light, slow traffic particularly on narrow sidestreets off the arterial streets.

Police warn anyone disregarding this simple safety rule, even though a pedestrian, is liable to a citation into police court. The violation is a misdemeanor with a penalty up to $100.

Although realizing human nature is what it is, police said they feel no one is in such a hurry he can't wait 24 seconds for the traffic light to change. While arrests are not desired, they will be assured if pedestrians continue to inch out into traffic while waiting for the lights to change.

Report Given At Parley for Voter League

Three officers of the Idaho League of Women Voters were introduced to the membership of the Twin Falls League at Williams Hotel at a dinner meeting Thursday night. They are Mrs. L. Z. Rosendaul, president; Mrs. Arthur Dahl, second vice president, and Mrs. Eugene Jensen, secretary. All are members of the local league and were presented by its president, Mrs. Frank McIntyre.

Mrs. Williams, Hollister board member, reported on a regional conference she attended last summer in Portland. She said the Twin Falls League compared favorably to the reports of others in the region and was outstanding in its unit organization.

Pointers Given

She gave pointers on how to take action to the community, how to interest new members and how to improve all phases of league work in carrying out the organization's purpose of increasing citizen responsibility.

Mrs. Vernon Smith, United Nations speakers bureau chairman, reported all men's service clubs and many church and civic organizations heard league U. N. speakers during October.

Speaking to the league at its dinner meeting were Mrs. Lorin Mead, background of U. N. formation; Mrs. Stanley Phillips, U. N. purposes and functions, and Mrs. R. L. Summerfield, U. N. accomplishments. Other speakers with the same subject for simultaneous meetings, were Mrs. Graydon W. Smith, Mrs. J. Woodson Creed and Mrs. Smith.

Discussion Held

Following the panel discussion, members discussed U. N. activities and Mrs. McIntyre announced the December unit meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Earl Matthews, local resource chairman.

The dinner arrangements were made by Mrs. Fred Olds, membership chairman, assisted by telephone squad members, Mrs. Rodney Tegan, Mrs. Ray Covey, Mrs. Eugene Brienholt and Mrs. J. A. Von Ins.

Guests and new members included Mrs. Floyd Broadhead, Mrs. Jack Shropshire, Mrs. Lonzo Perry, Mrs. O. C. Hull, Mrs. L. D. Roberts and Mrs. John H. McIver.

Jury Calls for Death Penalty For 2 Slayers

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Kenneth Hastings and William L. Owens were found guilty of first degree murder by an Ada county jury here in only 57 minutes to return the verdict with a recommendation for the death penalty.

District Judge M. Oliver Koelsch set Dec. 7 for sentencing.

The men were accused of shooting Boise grocer Bert McCurry during an attempted hold-up at his store Sept. 7.

Hastings and Owens took the verdict calmly, showing no signs of emotion.

Hasting's attorney, Vernon K. Smith, said he would file an appeal with the Idaho supreme court. Owens' court-appointed attorneys, Don Copple and David Doane, had "no comment" on whether the verdict would be appealed.

Smith demanded the jury be polled when the verdict against Hastings was read, but each of the 12 men jurors solemnly confirmed that they had recommended the death sentence.

The men came here from San Francisco a few days before the shooting. Owens admitted firing three shots during the hold-up but said he was trying to protect himself. McCurry came after him with a meat cleaver, he told the jury.

Ada county prosecutor Merlin Young asked for the death penalty.

Senate Panel Ends Inquiry Into Election

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The ghost of the bitter 1950 senate campaign in Ohio rose and walked abroad this week.

Many of the same charges and counter-charges fired more than a year ago by the forces of Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft and by those that backed his unsuccessful Democratic foe, Joseph T. Ferguson, rang out again—this time in the U. S. senate caucus room.

Race Probed

There, the senate elections subcommittee listened all week to testimony and received evidence bearing on its investigation of the Taft-Ferguson race.

The hearing, which followed an eight-week first study by subcommittee investigators, wound up today.

The Taft-Ferguson probe is part of the subcommittee's current project—to develop legislation aimed at tightening up the laws governing the conduct of campaigns for federal office. There is no contest of the Ohio election itself.

Candidates Testify

Taft and Ferguson, the Ohio state auditor—Taft defeated him by 431,000 votes—were lead-off witnesses.

Taft centered most of his fire on the labor unions whom he accused of besting their campaign to unseat him on "a tissue of lies."

Now a candidate for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination, Taft termed completely false" President Truman's charge that "special interests poured money into Ohio" to reelect him.

Instead, Taft claimed that "money was poured into Ohio by certain labor unions, notably the top organization of the CIO and AFL.

Taft set down spending for Ferguson at more than $2,000,000, as compared with not more than about $700,000 on his campaign.

But when Ferguson took the stand, he said he thought the Taft camp spent about $5,000,000. The Ohio Democrat told the senators his own campaign cost a bit more than $500,000. "The Democrats in Ohio are poor," he commented.

Underwriter Chief Talks for Meeting

Clarence C. Swanbeck, Lewiston, president of the Idaho Life Underwriters association, was a guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Southern Idaho Life Underwriters association. The meeting was held at the Park hotel.

He announced some of the outstanding speakers who will attend the state association's annual convention scheduled next May at Sun Valley. Swanbeck also complimented the local association in leading other associations in paid memberships for next year.

A talk on salesmanship was given by Henry Wills to the 25 underwriters attending the local meeting.

Judgment Asked

Blake Brothers Distributing company filed suit in justice court Saturday against Clarence Walcott, seeking a judgment for $26.03.

The complaint alleges the sum is due for merchandise purchased by Walcott during April, 1949. J. H. Barnes represents the plaintiff.

ings until after all testimony has been received.

Young girls smoking cigarettes on the street was the key used in unlocking the case.

Sherman Bellwood, Minidoka county prosecutor, said automobiles owned by juveniles and access to automobiles belonging to parents and relatives have been contributing factors in facilitating delinquencies.

Both Judge Wall and Bellwood said evidence is confined to promiscuous sexual intercourse on the part of mere children.

"It similar conditions exist in other communities in the valley," Bellwood said, "it is high time citizens and others start to work on it. It is time parents were hauled over the coals when things like this are going on among our school children."

Judge Wall's sentiments are similar. "It has come to a point where parents must wake up to conditions. And if parents will take these things seriously they can get all the help from authorities that they need.

"The effect of such conditions are far reaching," he added, "and will have some influence on all children who are in similar environment."

"In all cases of lewd and promiscuous conduct on the part of children," Judge Wall added, "the responsibility lies with the parents. The child should be a part of the family life."

In the investigation, he continued, the children have been most helpful while the attitude of the parents has ranged from complete indifference to defiance.

"They seem to lose complete sight of the reason for the hearings," he said.

One mother, when questioned by the court, said she didn't know her 15-year-old daughter was having dates with boys but admitted she knew her daughter stayed out frequently after midnight.

The mother had been divorced and remarried. The child's father testified he had not been helping to support the children.

Next on the part of parents in discussing facts of life with their children also was apparent from the testimony. Repeatedly the children involved said that their fathers and mothers never had discussed sex with them and that the children never had asked their parents any questions.

To each of the parents in court Judge Wall says, "I might explain to you as parents that you are here to show cause why your child should not be taken away from you and committed to the industrial school, why this child should not be corrected and cared for according to our juvenile law.

"Your child has been deemed a juvenile delinquent by the probation officer. This is not a civil or criminal court and your child has not been charged with the commission of a crime. The purpose of the hearing is to find methods of correction, protection or rehabilitation for you child.

"We are looking for something we feel the child has been deprived of by the parents he or she has become a delinquent."

Clark Admits He Took Trips With Tax Case Figure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark said tonight he recalled making trips, while he was attorney general, in a private airplane of Troy Whitehead, Charlotte, N. C., businessman.

But Clark said he did not know at the time that a federal tax investigation of Whitehead was being made.

The plane trips were made during 1946. Adrian Dewind, counsel for a congressional investigating committee, told reporters the justice department began its fraud investigation of Whitehead on June 25, 1947.

The Charlotte News published an interview today quoting Walter B. Mallonee, former pilot and co-owner of Whitehead's twin-engined, eight-passenger plane, as saying he had taken Clark on two "pleasure jaunts" with T. Lamar Caudle.

Air Rifle Stolen

Twin Falls police are wondering who will receive the last report on the wave of car ransacking last Monday.

Friday Dr. F. T. Kolouch, 222 Seventh avenue north, reported an air rifle was taken from his stolen wagon Monday night while it was parked in front of his residence.

A car robe was stolen Thursday night from a car owned by Mrs. R. A. Sutcliffe, 1444 Maple street. The auto was parked in front of her residence.

Truth Asked Of President On War Halt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The ranking Republican member of the house armed services committee called on President Truman and the administration to "come clean" with the American people on what is happening in Korea instead of "castigating" war correspondents.

Representative Short, Missouri, issued a statement in which he said:

It is clear that the instructions issued to the eighth army during the past week, however they may have been worded, were such as to result in a near-halt in ground fighting.

Duty to Report

"The press and radio correspondents who were at the front lines and who witnessed this occurrence would have been derelict if they had not reported this fact to the American people.

"Yet, for doing their plain duty, the newspapers and news services have been castigated by President Truman and his press secretary, who attempted to give the impression that the slowdown in fighting had never taken place."

Truth Demanded

Representative Short said he hoped "the fiasco over the news of the slowdown in the Korean war will lead Mr. Truman and his administration to adopt a policy of taking the American people into their confidence from now on." He continued:

"Until the administration understands that the people must be given the truth about the war—and that means the whole truth—there can only be a continuation of the suspicion, uncertainty, and doubt that are now widespread throughout the country."

Collectors Examine Toys for Project

Kiwanis members and Boy Scouts got off to a good start Saturday morning in their drive to collect enough toys for all needy Twin Falls children. Assistant Fire Chief Robert K. Bopp, shown examining a doll house, is in charge of toy collection. Among the Scouts who helped in the pickup campaign were, left to right, Ronnie Fippin, troop No. 69; David Chatterton and Bruce Knudsen, both troop No. 71. Scouts from troops 55, 84 and 100 also participated. Bopp said at least as many more toys as shown in the picture will be donated as the drive continues. Residents were asked to bring toys to the fire station or phone 1010. (Staff photo-engraving)

Power Discussed

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—At a meeting of the Big Wood River Canal company Saturday morning directors discussed the possibility of erecting an electric power unit at Magic dam but no action was taken. The directors also discussed the possibility of moving a dwelling to the dam for the gatekeeper.

As of Dec. 1, the reservoir behind the dam had 20,655 acre feet of water, directors reported. Donald Sandy, the director who was elected Nov. 13, was sworn in Saturday morning.

Pipes Installed

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—Heating pipes to the vestry room of the local Episcopal church have been installed, according to announcement by Mrs. Paul Haddock, building chairman. Mrs. Haddock also said that some carpenter work was done on the party house recently.

Dinner Served

EDEN, Dec. 1—Masons from Eden and Hazelton entertained wives and friends Thursday evening at their annual lamb feed. Clyde Montgomery was general chairman. Charles Hawley, master, gave a welcome address and Barbara Clauson, Hazelton, played two piano solos.

Speaker Paints Dark Picture About Future of United States

BURLEY, Dec. 1—"Today we are living in a time of the greatest confusion and bewilderment ever known to man," Judge Brantley Burcham, speaker at Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork club dinner meeting at the Elks dining room this week, declared, "and the message I have is not pleasant at all."

Confused minds, he said, are a result of changed international relations. Not more than a half dozen years ago this country was an ally of Russia and was assisting China against Japan. Today the United States is facing just a reverse situation.

Despite the great strides that have been made in science, medicine, business and agriculture, Judge Burcham said, "we have failed at the simple business of getting along with each other."

The speaker traced historical events from 2,000 years ago to the present time. Russia's form of government, he said, is based on the theory the state is all powerful and rights must come from the state. Democracy is based on the dignity of man and on God given rights, he added.

From the time of Christ only one per cent of the world has ever known what true freedom is, he said.

"The home of the free and the brave, we have become the envy of the world. We send more boys and girls to school than all the rest of the world put together. But we must realize that what happened to Poland and to Czechoslovakia can happen here. There are, according to the FBI, 54,000 card-carrying communists and two flourishing schools for fellow travelers in this country, the schools are the Samuel Adams School, Boston, Mass., and the Jefferson School of Social Science, New York," he said.

Judge Burcham said America not only is facing a mortal external enemy but is creating an internal enemy—"a sick economy." He stressed the importance of every American citizen exercising his voting privilege. It is far better to lose a vote at the polls than to lose the right to vote, he said.

"Before we can rise from our moral blindness," Judge Burcham said, "we must face and straighten out three questions. Can we survive a third world war? Do we have a foreign policy? Can we live as a garrison state?".

According to the speaker, the United States cannot survive another world war because the power of destruction is too great.

The foreign policy of this country, he said, lacks force and should be based on national security. Through hypnotism exerted by the Russian delegation and mental eclipse suffered by the American delegation, what this country failed to give away at Yalta was wrapped up and handed to Stalin at Potsdam.

The speaker said it is impossible for this country to live as a garrison state because so many critical materials come from outside this nation.

UNFAIR AND DECEITFUL

Everyone acknowledges that President Truman is a fighter when he climbs the political rostrum or goes on a whistle-stop tour. But it is also conceded that when he starts his heavy punching he often cuts loose with some pretty wild swings.

Back in 1948, his uphill fight for reelection featured some effective pummeling of the Republican 80th congress. But more than once he blamed that body for failings which rightly should have been attributed to the Democratic 79th congress. And he gave his own party exclusive credit for important foreign policy achievements that would have been impossible without the help of the 80th.

In his speech the other night to the Women's National Democratic club, Mr. Truman was slashing hard in his favorite style. He charged that the Republicans would try to buy the 1952 election with a big "slush fund" and a campaign of "lies and smears."

He cited the Ohio campaign of 1950, in which Senator Taft was reelected, as an instance where money won an election. The facts make it clear the President is indulging in the very sort of misrepresentation he professes to deplore.

Taft won Ohio by 430,000 votes, capturing all eight major industrial areas and winning about 35 per cent of the labor vote. Does Mr. Truman really wish to insist these votes were bought?

Why not a frank admission that Taft's opponent was pitifully weak, that Taft himself waged a tremendous campaign, that big labor actually aided that campaign by galvanizing into pro-Taft efforts people who feared labor control if the labor-managed Democratic nominee won?

It was indeed an expensive campaign, but a good deal of the money was spent by "special interests" on the Democratic side.

The President's constant resort to that phrase "special interests" is another place where accuracy is sacrificed for political effect. Labor is just as much a special interest as the farmer or the businessman.

Something ought to be said, too, on this issue of "smears." Mudslinging, of course, is as old as politics. No matter what pious pledges are uttered, we shall have it again in 1952—on both sides.

But Mr. Truman's prediction that the Republicans will virtually found their campaign on misrepresentation is unfair and deceitful. Essentially, it is a defensive tactic, if you hold that the best defense is a good offense.

For the irrefutable record of scandal in the internal revenue department, of moral laxity and influence peddling in the RFC and other federal agencies, cannot be brushed off as the product of a Republican publicity man. These things have happened, and it is no "smear" to call the public's attention to them.

The word "smear" has become one of the commonest weapons in the politician's arsenal today. Too common. Many a man who himself is an expert at besmirching an opponent will holler "smear" when lashed by argument he can't fairly answer.

How gratifying it would be if the President and numerous others of the political fraternity would cast out emotionally loaded labels like "smear" and show a little more reverence for fact.

A FLIMSY REASON

President Truman's refusal to turn over department of justice files on the handling of tax cases involving fraud furnishes a spectacular example of the growing tendency to suppress or withhold important information at Washington. It looks as if Mr. Truman wants to protect his old senate crony, Atty.-Gen. J. Harold McGrath.

These cases, in the opinion of Representative King of California, chairman of the investigating subcommittee, may show where the department of justice indulged in political favoritism by refusing to act on complaints submitted to it by the treasury. These were handled by former Asst. Atty.-Gen. T. Theron Caudle, who headed the tax division until he was fired by Mr. Truman for his "outside activities."

Obviously, the committee can make no determination of the question of political handling of tax frauds without these files. It cannot tell the attitude of Attorney General McGrath, who presumably passes on all Caudle decisions to prosecute or not to prosecute.

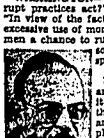

The presidential reason for refusing this data is that it might reveal the names of "informants"—"stool pigeons," to use a blunt word—who tipped off the treasury on alleged frauds. "Informants" collect 50 per cent, if their suspicions are substantiated.

This reason does not hold water. Mr. King's committee could obtain all the information it needs without divulging the names of the tipsters, as he has informed both the White House and the department of justice. In fact, after his first telephone talk with Mr. Truman, Mr. King announced that the President had agreed to open the files to his subcommittee.

Most politicians are dull and need some effective gags, says a writer. What a sense of humor he has!

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday this veteran newspaper correspondent at Washington devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international political problems. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 4306 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—"What has happened to the corrupt practices act?" inquires O. H., Columbia, S. C. "In view of the fact that it was made law to prevent excessive use of money in politics and to give the poor men a chance to run for public office, how is it that so many millions of dollars can be spent in a single senatorial election?"

UNENFORCEABLE—Answer: The anti-money law is so full of holes it is virtually unenforceable, like that other cure-all for dirty politics and official coercion of federal employes, the Hatch act. Both were enacted in an effort to appease angry public sentiment over disclosures of election scandals. Both need a thorough revision.

Although the corrupt practices act prescribes limitations on the amounts candidates for federal offices and committees may spend, it does not and cannot check heavy expenditures by voluntary and frequently uncontrolled groups working for a certain candidate, labors, operators, farmers, business men, civil rights committees.

• • •

PURPOSE—No matter how scrupulous an office-seeker may be, he cannot restrain or supervise these organizations. In many instances he may not even know of their existence or activities. Money is sent in stealthily from the outside with word to "use it where and how it will do the most good."

Although presidentially aroused interest in the Taft-Ferguson contest in Ohio last year overshadows other conspicuous local contests, the Gillette subcommittee's current investigation is to discover how the existing law can be tightened and strengthened.

Even Gillette, however, concedes it will be almost impossible to frame a perfect remedy against the evil use of cash in political campaigns.

• • •

INFLATION—The corrupt practices act was enacted in 1925, and politics has suffered from inflation, like everything else, in the intervening period. With a senate candidate restricted to $10,000 and a house candidate to $5,000, they have resorted to assistance from well-wishing volunteer units, as well as from the state and national committees.

Everything he needs in rounding up votes has gone up in price. This includes postage stamps, gasoline, automobile hire, railroad fares, salaries for clerks and messengers, headquarters rent, etc. Such factors as the radio and television have been introduced into politics since 1925, and they are expensive items.

In fact, politicians estimate that today's vote-getting dollar is worth only about one-quarter of what it was when the law was placed on the books.

• • •

CONFIDENCE—W. G. Y., Los Angeles, wants more information on the market letters favoring the nomination of General Eisenhower in the GOP next year. I recently reported that numerous investment letters forecast that his selection would create confidence that would be reflected in the price of stocks and in the financial community generally.

"Los Angeles," he continues, "is quite a distance from New York, and a still greater distance from Europe, but comparatively close to Asia and its problems. Would be interested in learning to what degree these Wall street financiers and lawyers weigh these problems. Or are they only interested in the immediate profits derived from industrial defense production?"

• • •

PROFIT—The letters I have seen do not stress General Eisenhower's supposed greater interest in Europe than in Asia. But it is a fact that numerous New York banks and law firms figure that the European trade, industry and financial situation are of more importance to them than Oriental questions. They have always acted and spoken as a pro-Europe bloc.

However, the general theme of these memos is that there would be more confidence, based on domestic and political conditions, if a man like "Ike" supplanted President Truman in the White House. And it is a fact that many of these houses do profit, directly or indirectly, from the rearmament program.

Since Senator Taft has been critical of the extent of these expenditures, whereas Eisenhower's west European army is the beneficiary, the New Yorkers naturally lean toward the general rather than the Ohioan.

• • •

GRACIOUS—"Is Vice President Barkley's trip to Korea designed to swing him a nomination for next place?" writes K. H., Brooklyn, N. Y., "or even for the top spot, if Mr. Truman does not run again?"

Answer: I don't think so, although it never hurts a politician to keep in the limelight. Since President Truman could not make the trip, I think the "Veep" felt it would be a gracious act for him to show his personal interest in our fighting men over there. Barkley is a generous, kindly individual.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

REP. WOOD PLENTY VOCAL

One thing about Idaho's first district congressman, John T. Wood, that voters can admire—there is no doubt about where he stands. Also so far, that's the only thing we can see in his favor.

In a newsletter this week to The News, Representative Wood takes his own Republican party to task for what he terms "pseudo Republicanism." The party, he said, must repudiate the attempted leadership of leftwingers, one worlders and new dealers who are masquerading as Republicans.

The point in the congressman's blast, however, comes out later when he states flatly that the Republican party "must pledge itself to keep us out of entangling foreign alliances and bring an end to internationalism—the antithesis of loyal Americanism."

There, we think, is the point of his argument. What he wants is for the Republican party to repudiate the United Nations and return to the old theory of "isolationism." There is where we think the congressman is off base. It just won't work when the enemy has bombers that can span the world. History has readily demonstrated that point.

And the theory of internationalism isn't a one-party monopoly, either. The Republican party has played an important role in shaping that policy as we feel. Congressman Wood is speaking for himself and not the party when he urges a return to isolationism.

But we are glad that the congressman isn't straddling any fence when he tells us where he stands. At least that's something.—Minidoka County News.

"DIRTY SMEARS" COMING!

The Republicans are planning a campaign of dirty smears.

The authority for this remarkable bit of prophecy is Harry S. Truman, President of the United States. He flew back to Washington from Key West to put this out just before Thanksgiving, as a stated thought for the country as it prepared to celebrate this great religious festival.

The President didn't mean to do it but he demonstrated clearly the truth of the old adage that "the guilty flee when no man pursueth." For how did he know all this was coming?

He knew it because he has been reading the newspapers and was aware of the unprecedented number of scandals that have been unearthed in his administration in recent months, and he grimly suspects that many more are to be revealed before next November, for they are coming about one a day.

Knowing politics as he does from lifelong association the President needed no great gift to forecast that opposition guns, loaded to the muzzles with ammunition, were going to be fired and fired and fired.

This, he says, will be a "dirty smear." We beg leave to differ and to suggest that while the smear is there all right, its revelation is public gass of treason, constitute it. Wrong doing, not its exposure and denunciation, is the "smear" that so worries our President as he ponders whether to seek a third term.—Nampa Free Press.

POT SHOTS

FUN TO WATCH

Dear Pots:

There I was, fighting the first bunch of the Christmas shoppers and not enjoying myself too much. Then I happened to notice a fellow standing off to one side just grinning.

Curiosity got the best of me. Finally I edged up alongside him, looked to see if I could see anything funny. There was nothing to cause so much as a grin.

Finally I asked him.

"Oh, it's nothing," he answered. "This is the second time I've decided to do my Christmas shopping early like they always tell us. And now I just take off a few minutes every day to watch the thundering herd. It's fun."

And I couldn't see anything funny at all.

Dear Pot Shots:

Now don't tell me I'm just old-fashioned, but after viewing that horrid-looking balloon menagerie in your parade, could you please explain to me how on earth they entertain to Christmas? And so expensive! How many stockings and baskets of goodies would that fill?

I hope our kids down here didn't hear about your splurge or they just may not be satisfied with plain old nuts, candy and free show. Besides, I'm mad at you. I didn't see Rudolph anywhere!

Dear Pot Shots:

Did you notice Monday when the boys and girls (mostly girls) from high school helped run the city, it was just the young, beautiful girls who got to ride around sitting right by firemen, policemen or sitting with the other officials some other place. It was the girls who got their picture in the paper.

I'm not jealous of these girls who got to sit by those old ducks, but it's no seldom any brains pop up in our family I was hoping to see my son's picture in the paper . . .

FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . . That padlock on the closet means Christmas can't be too far away."

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

PARIS, France—In this beautiful city like a dream of the vanished past, the protestants in the battle between west and east are going at it once again. They are belaboring each other with the old, worn-out slogans. In other words, employing the same transparent stratagems, going through the familiar motions.

Marquis Childs

For many of the delegates, a deepening sense of disillusion is developing. For some, of course, the trip to Paris is merely another outing and they accept it with frank cynicism. But many brought to the United Nations a generous idealism. They had real hope that this was the beginning of an era in which lasting peace could come.

For them the disintegration of the new world organization into two quarreling camps is a cause for something close to despair. The utmost limit of their hope today is that in some now unforeseen fashion the quarrel of words can be prevented from becoming a quarrel of guns and atom bombs.

• • •

The American disarmament plan, ably presented by Secretary of State Acheson, served to put the Russians on the spot and to give the tactical initiative to the west. But it soon will be pushed into the background, with Korea taking top place at this assembly session.

Yet, despite the disillusion, you find no one ready to abandon the U. N. For the delegates it continues to be a life raft to which they cling. It is perilous, threatening to break up altogether.

But all the while in the cold, cruel, lonely sea. There is no other haven in sight. And so they hang on to this insubstantial bit of flotsam for dear life.

• • •

At first glance, the margin between hope and despair appears to be narrow. The votes taken thus far show that if there are for the Soviet union and its satellites, a wide area of harmony would exist. The iron curtain countries are almost solid. Iran ignores two or three timid abstainers.

But no long as the framework of the U. N. remains unchanged, with the veto in the center of it, the numerical margin is an insurmountable obstacle. The U. N. will continue to be a cockpit, the only variation being the degree of intensity of the fighting.

Moreover, the seeming narrowness of the margin between hope and despair is not all picture. It may be deceptive in itself. The Arab nations are extremely restive. They have not forgotten nor forgiven the intervention of the U. N. in the Palestinian war. They considered it a grave injustice. The Egyptians are resentful deeply on another score—quite failure of the U. N. to consider the Egyptian claims on the Sudan and the Suez canal.

Alongside the restiveness of the Arab states of one must put the growing neutralism of some nations, with India as a conspicuous example. They are more and more anxious to quit every fight, every threatening to engulf everyone.

• • •

As is pointed out so frequently specialized agencies of the U. N. are doing valuable work in many fields. The world health organization, food and agriculture, the international labor office and others are doing work which probably would not be done at all if it were not for the existence of a world organization.

But precisely the same thing was said in behalf of the League of Nations at the very time its decay and impotence had become most painfully obvious in restraining the big powers in their scramble for position. Here is a deadly parallel. To ignore it is to risk lapsing into dangerous self-deception.

The U. N.'s great functional buildings are going up on New York's East river. They are very like the marble palaces of the league went up on the shores of Lake Geneva, Switzerland.

This is not meant to be a calculatedly gloomy forecast of doom for the United Nations. It is a report on what appear to be the realities here at this moment. To look around these realities is to invite the final dissolution of the only organization to which most nations give at least lip service.

To one observer, the necessity to repair the life raft of the U. N. seems at this moment extremely urgent. How that can be done, short of eliminating the communist obstructors, it is hard to see. But in view of the gale winds now blowing, neither can one foresee a very long life for that frail bark in its present condition.

Driver Loses License, Fined $1,000, Jailed 60 Days on Plans to Beat Law

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—It looked to Stanley Goldman like a surefire way to beat New York traffic laws. He put Florida license plates on his car.

The idea apparently was that nobody is going to worry much about a traffic fine when the violator presumably has gone back to Florida.

Goldman, 25, said he got the idea from a business associate, Stanley Lambert, Miami, Fla.

He also got his Florida plates in Lambert's name, he added.

Everything worked fine as Goldman accumulated 46 tickets in less than a year.

He never bothered to pay a one.

But police were getting pretty familiar with the Florida license number.

Friday Goldman was arrested for double parking.

A quick check and another cop showed up in court with the 46 other tickets.

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh told Goldman:

"You have violated the law repeatedly. Anyone showing such willful disregard of the law should serve time."

Murtagh then:

Revoked Goldman's driver's license.

Fined him $1,000.

And sent him to jail for 60 days.

It probably was the stiffest sentence of its kind ever handed out here.

Goldman wept.

Said Murtagh grimly:

"You deserve no sympathy."

Former Emerson Man's Rites Held

EMERSON, Dec. 1—Funeral services for James Barron Hunt, Calexico, Calif., a former resident of the Emerson district, were held Thursday at the Joseph Payne memorial chapel in Burley with Bishop C. A. May of the Emerson LDS ward in charge.

Invocation was given by James Toone and the benediction was pronounced by Lyman Jensen. Howard Corless and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanford sang, accompanied by Jay Barrus.

Speakers were Elmer S. Heiner, Heyburn, and Davis Green, president of the Minidoka stake.

Pallbearers were Lenz Hunt, W. T. Cole, Bryan Barron, Lafe Barron and Arthur Barron.

Mrs. L. H. Peterson, Mrs. R. E. Corless, Mrs. George Croft and Mrs. Keith Merrill were in charge of the flowers. Burial was made in Riverside cemetery, Burley, with Alma Blacker dedicating the grave.

Soup Served

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—The annual duck soup supper was held at the Masonic temple Thursday night. Masons from Wendell, Jerome, Hagerman, Gooding, Hailey and Shoshone attended.

Fifty-five ducks went into the soup prepared by cooks at the Manhattan cafe.

Following the supper guests were introduced and John Arden, Ketchum, spoke.

Shoshone Youths Join CAP Group

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1 — Five high school youths joined the CAP Tuesday evening at a meeting in Shoshone, Darrell Jones, commander of the Lincoln county unit, said Saturday.

Plans to purchase a quonset hut for a meeting place were discussed. Classes in meteorology, navigation and aircraft and engines will be started soon, he said.

The unit now has 10 cadets and 15 adult members, Jones said. Pete Borden is the adjutant. Age limit for cadets is between 15 and 18 years.

The five youths who joined Tuesday are Austin Young, Richard Payton, Bill Kissler, Marlynn Brookbank and Jon Wilson.

Jerome to Elect Soil Supervisors

JEROME, Dec. 1—Three supervisors for the North Side soil conservation district will be elected Tuesday. The terms of E. E. Adams, treasurer; Fred Nelsen, chairman, and Virgil Lickley, member, expire. Candidates running for office include William P. Lutz and G. W. Ostler, west Jerome; Harry Hooper, Hunt; Clyde Montgomery, Hazelton, and E. E. Adams and Kenneth Lavens, southeast Jerome.

Polling places will be open from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. at the Pierce real estate office, Jerome; American Legion hall, Hazelton, and Eden Grange hall, Eden.

Board to Meet

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1 — Lincoln county commissioners will meet Monday as a board of equalization for the subsequent property roll that has been prepared by County Assessor Ray Oyler. The role will include migratory livestock that was ranged in other counties last year and personal property that was missed earlier in the year.

The commissioners will meet Dec. 10 to choose a jury list for 1952.

ATTEND FUNERAL

EMERSON, Dec. 1—Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill have left to attend funeral services for his grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Merrill, in Richmond, Utah.

The postmaster particularly stressed the importance of sending all Christmas cards with three-cent stamps as first class mail.

Actually, you save very little by sending your greetings in unsealed envelopes, he explained, because the rate for third class mail has been increased to two cents.

Also, first class mail has these advantages:

1. Your cards may carry written messages.

2. They are dispatched and delivered first.

3. If necessary, they are forwarded to new addresses without additional charge.

4. If undeliverable, they are returned if the sender's address is on the envelope.

Postal regulations, moreover, require minimum postage of three cents on envelopes smaller than 2¾ by four inches, or larger than nine by 12 inches, whether sealed or unsealed.

To avoid last-minute crowds, Frantz recommends that you visit the postoffice next week to purchase all those extra stamps you'll soon need. The stamp lines are short now, and this is one phase of Christmas shopping that can be done easily.

Christmas cards and packages for out-of-state delivery should be posted well in advance of Dec. 11. Those for local delivery are sure to arrive by Christmas day if mailed by Dec. 15.

"We anticipate an even heavier load of Christmas mail this year than in 1950, when both local and national records were broken," the postmaster concluded.

"Consequently, we've enlarged our staff of mail clerks and carriers as much as possible. The sorting tables and delivery trucks are all set up.

PAUL, Dec. 1—Election will be held Monday for highway district commissioner for sub-district 3 of the Heyburn-Paul highway district.

Five candidates have filed for the post. They are Gilbert Blake, Leo J. Handy, Royce Heckendorne, Arlo Morgan and L. P. Olensinger. The term of the commissioner to be elected will be for four years. Robert E. Corless, who has been commissioner, is not seeking reelection.

Voting places will be at the highway office in Paul and the village office in Heyburn. Polls will be open at noon and will close at 7 p.m.

The two holdover members of the board are Chester Peterman and Charles W. Locander.

Hearing Slated on Sugar Beet Prices

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1 (AP)—Wage rates and prices for the 1952 sugar beet crop will be considered at a federal department of agriculture hearing here Dec. 10. The session is one of five planned in major beet producing areas.

Representatives of sugar beet growers and workers have been invited to testify. The department of agriculture later will fix wage rates and contract prices which will be in effect for the 1952 season.

Growers must pay the specified wage rates if they qualify for federal benefit payments under the 1948 sugar act.

Probe Into U. P. Crash Completed

NAMPA, Dec. 1 (AP)—Interstate commerce commission and Union Pacific railroad officials have concluded an investigation into the train wreck which killed five trainmen at Orchard last Sunday.

About 15 witnesses, mostly Union Pacific railroad employes, testified in the hearing, said Luke Mangum, Nampa, assistant superintendent of the road's Idaho division.

The decision is not expected out of the ICC office in Washington for several months.

Land Lawsuit Is Brought in District Court

HAILEY, Dec. 1—William, Donald and Jed Wilson, all Howe, have filed an action in district court here against R. B. Randell and the Magic Valley Investment company, Twin Falls, to cancel a land sale contract and for damages claimed due as a result of the loss of a sale of real estate.

According to the complaint, the Wilsons agreed to buy the Randell ranch of approximately 1,000 acres near Picabo for $108,000. As a part of the agreement, the plaintiffs claim, the investment company agreed to find a buyer for the Wilson property in Lemhi county. Money derived from this sale was to be used as a down payment on the Randell ranch.

Paid $10,000

In addition to money to be derived from the sale of the Lemhi county property, the plaintiffs claim they paid $10,000 to the defendants as part payment on the Randell ranch.

The plaintiffs claim in their complaint that they located a purchaser for their Lemhi county property but that he rented it at $30,000 to swing the purchase. They claim they notified the investment company of these facts but that the company failed to negotiate with the prospective purchaser and that the sale of the land thereby was lost.

Failed to Negotiate

It is the further claim of the plaintiffs that the investment company knew the Wilsons could not meet a payment of $43,906.03 on the Randell ranch by next Jan. 15 unless their land in Lemhi county was sold and that company deliberately failed to negotiate with the prospective purchaser so the Wilsons could not meet the payment.

The plaintiffs also claim that Randell has not lived up to the terms of the agreement which said they could have possession of the ranch near Picabo, it is their contention a tenant on the ranch has refused to move.

The plaintiffs are seeking to have the contract declared null and void and their $10,000 plus $800 expenses and $800 interest returned to them. They also are asking for $25,000 damages resulting from the loss of the sale of the land in Lemhi county.

Rupert Man Dies After Long Illness

RUPERT, Dec. 1—Wilford A. Perkins died at 7:20 a.m. Saturday at his home here following a long illness. Death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Mr. Perkins was born Feb. 19, 1902, at Rockland and came to Rupert 28 years ago. He married Vardella Rigby on June 24, 1926, at Idaho Falls. He was a member of the LDS church.

Surviving are his widow, four sons, Austin Lyle Perkins, Lane Perkins and Larry Perkins, all Rupert, and Gerald Perkins, Gooding; four daughters, Mrs. Ruby Kidd, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Lois Galligar, Fruitland, and LaNae Perkins and Sharon Perkins, both Rupert; four brothers, Leo Perkins, Paul; Orville Perkins, Rupert; Harold Perkins, Salmon, and George Perkins, Nampa; and two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle John, Rupert, and Mrs. Erlene Fenstermaker, Burley.

Funeral services, under the direction of the Goodman mortuary, are pending.

Work Begins

MURTAUGH, Dec. 1—Landscaping the ground around the Methodist church was started by members of the church Thursday. The irrigation ditches will be piped, a parking space will be made and a lawn planted. The church recently built a fireplace at the rear of the building. The project is being supervised by Glenn Briggs and Oliver Johnson.

Elks Plan Service

BURLEY, Dec. 1—Annual memorial services will be held by members of the Burley Elks Lodge at 2 p. m. Sunday. Speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. Father Francis O'Driscoll. The Rev. Martin Crabb will be in charge of music. The public is invited to attend the service.

Winter Braking Facts Outlined in Chart

National Safety Council Tests reveal facts to help you avoid accidents and traffic tie-ups this winter. These four charts show average results. Skid distances of bare tires vary as much as 130 per cent, however, with changing temperatures or sunshine. At 4 degrees below zero tires without chains can stop on ice in about 110 feet at 20 m.p.h., but the same car, at same speed, takes about 250 feet to stop on same ice at 30 degrees above zero. This variable has led many a driver to disaster. Temperatures of 15 degrees above zero or higher put a moist film on ice or hard-packed snow which, without tire chains, greatly increases skidding.

These facts on auto braking under winter driving conditions are based on tests made last winter by the committee on winter driving hazards of the National Safety council. The facts cover various types of tires and chains under various winter driving conditions.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Safety Council Says Cold Synthetic Rubber in Tires Boosts Skid Danger

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—The National Safety council warns motorists that the war-born use of cold synthetic rubber in most tires now being produced has increased the danger of skidding because of less effective stop-and-go traction ability on snow and ice.

The council said exhaustive winter driving tests conducted earlier this year at Clintonville, Wis., has proved the need for motorists to drive more cautiously with synthetic tires.

Prof. A. H. Easton, director of the University of Wisconsin's truck research project and chairman of tests for the council's committee on winter driving hazards, was technical supervisor of the latest series of experiments on stopping and traction abilities of various types of tires and tire chains on hard-packed snow. Similar tests had been made previously on glare ice and loose snow.

Natural rubber tires, manufactured before defense requirements forced tire companies into using more synthetic rubber, were 8 per cent superior to similar present day synthetic tires in stopping on hard-packed snow and 47 per cent better in traction ability. On glare ice, natural rubber treads were 10 per cent better in stopping ability and 16 per cent better in traction ability.

It was pointed out, however, that synthetic tires wear better, perform normally on dry or wet pavements and have other advantages.

The tests indicated that on snow and ice even the specialized winter tires now appearing on the market showed relatively little overall improvement over conventional tires in comparison with the stopping and traction ability possible by using reinforced tire chains, Professor Easton said.

The test report defined three types of special winter tires: "winterized" tires of conventional tread containing embedded materials or fine lacerations and cuts; "mud-snow" tires characterized by a deep tread pattern or lug design; "winterized mud-snow" tires combining deep tread with the lacerating treatment.

"While the performance of several specialized tires shows definite improvement for specific conditions over conventional tires, their overall improvement is not great enough to warrant less care of precaution when driving on slippery surfaces," Professor Easton warned.

"As an example, the stopping distance on glare ice of the best specialized tire tested is still about eight times the normal stopping distance on dry concrete. Several of the specialized tires, although showing some improvement under specific conditions, are no better, and in some cases even worse, than the conventional tread tires under other conditions.

"As a corollary to the above," Professor Easton said, "it seems evident that the basic recommendations of the committee are still applicable. These recommendations are: (1) get the 'feel' of the road; (2) adjust speed to road and weather conditions; (3) use tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions; (4) pump the brakes to stop; (5) follow other vehicles at a safe distance and (6) keep the windshield and windows clear."

On the basis of stopping and traction tests conducted during January of this year of representative specialized tires on the rear wheels only, the most significant findings, Professor Easton said, were:

1. Stopping distances with conventional tires on hard-packed snow were about three times the normal stopping distance on dry concrete. With the best of the specialized tires, stopping distances on packed snow were about two and one-half times the dry concrete distances, and with reinforced type tire chains stopping distances on packed snow were nearly twice that obtained on dry concrete.

2. "Winterized" tires offered an average improvement of about 5 per cent in stopping ability on hard-packed snow, but their traction ability was 10 per cent less than conventional tread natural rubber tires.

3. Tires of the "mud-snow" type reduce stopping distances on hard packed snow an average of 13 per cent compared with conventional tread natural rubber tires. In traction ability, one of the tires of this group showed an increase of 47 per cent over conventional tires, whereas the other showed an improvement of only 1 per cent.

4. "Winterized mud-snow" tires showed an average improvement of 17 per cent in stopping ability, and 19 per cent in traction ability on hard-packed snow compared with conventional tread natural rubber tires.

"Reinforced tire chains are far superior to the best of the tires tested," said Professor Easton, "both in stopping and tractive ability on hard-packed snow. They showed an improvement over conventional tread natural rubber tires of 39 per cent in stopping ability, and 273 per cent in traction ability. On glare ice their improvement averaged 56 per cent for stopping and about 650 per cent for traction ability on grade climbing."

With reinforced chains, the tests revealed, a car can climb a grade of about 23 per cent on ice or snow, while the best of the special winter tires can negotiate only a 4 per cent grade on glare ice, and an 8 per cent grade on hard-packed snow.

The council committee, made up of public safety officials, automotive and tire engineers, insurance men and fleet owners, scientific research men and traffic safety educators, also made the following recommendation in its report:

"In view of the serious consequences often resulting from exaggerated claims for the performance of any product when safety is involved, it is important that extreme care be used in all publicity to avoid misleading statements."

Moderator Is Reported for City Program

Mrs. Sturgeon McCoy will be moderator of "Let's Talk City Business" over KTFI at 10 p.m. Wednesday when R. C. Schwendiman, chairman of the board of city commissioners, and City Manager William R. Smith will discuss two topics.

The city officials will explain the city's policies on construction of sewer line facilities, Smith said he believes the sewer problem is the one least understood by citizens.

Some persons believe the city pays for lateral sewer lines but the city manager points out the city pays only for the trunk lines. Each individual resident pays for his own lateral lines in keeping with the city's policy of charging the person receiving the direct benefits.

The city officials also will outline the steps to be taken for the installation of a lateral line, and the responsibilities of the city, the contractor and the citizen in its installation.

The second part of the Wednesday night city broadcast will be titled an adventure in junior citizenship and will deal with the training of teen-agers in municipal affairs. Smith said the purpose of this part is to impress adults with the importance of making young persons conscious early of the closeness of city services to them.

Dietrich Clubber Wins 4-H Award

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—A 17-jewel watch has been awarded Phillip Edwards, Dietrich, who is attending the 4-H club congress in Chicago.

Edwards won statewide recognition in 4-H dairy achievement work by his scientific practices in dairying, plus teamwork and sportsmanship.

After seven years in club work he not only has learned proper care of cattle but owns several. He has an outstanding record in garden projects and serves as reporter, secretary and junior leader of his club.

Santa's helper says:

"PUT ME TO WORK ON CHRISTMAS . . . I'LL SERVE YOU ALL YEAR LONG!"

When you give electrical gifts for Christmas, you give electric service, too. Electrical gifts save time and labor—make life easier and pleasanter—help with household chores 365 days a year.

Take automatic laundry equipment, for instance. It saves stooping, stretching, lifting—takes the work out of washday. Other appliances serve equally well. From vacuum cleaners to shop tools, and kitchen appliances to floor and table lamps, you're practical when you give electrical. For electrical gifts work all year long!

Ghosts!

CAREY, Dec. 1—Did you ever see a ghost walking?

Do you believe in ghosts, spirits, hobgoblins and whatnot?

These are questions Boy Scouts of troop 55 are asking everyone. The purpose is to build interest in a "ghost" show they are sponsoring at 8 p.m. Thursday at the LDS recreation hall.

Proceeds from the show will be applied to purchase of new equipment such as tents, flags, signal flags and materials for hobby interests.

Shoshone Grange Dinner Is Served

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1 — An Idaho products pot-luck supper was held by members of Wood River Center Grange at a meeting this week.

Following the supper, the regular business meeting was held. A birthday party will be held in connection with the regular December party. Donations were made for Christmas seals and to the Boy Scout fund.

Mrs. F. C. Wentworth was elected lecturer for the coming year.

Following the meeting the Juvenile matron held installation of officers and the new subordinate lecturer was installed.

Officers installed were Charles Parks, master; Bonnie Barney, lecturer; Darwin Mills, steward; Tony Parks, assistant steward; Gary Whitehead, treasurer; Hazel Hall, secretary; Ed Sandy, gatekeeper; Roberta Hall, Ceres; Sandra Mills, Pomona; Mary Ann Whitehead, Flora; Verla Barney, assistant steward; Mrs. George Eden, matron; Mrs. Donald Sandy, assistant matron, and Larry Barney, second assistant.

Rupert Assumes Festive Yule Air

RUPERT, Dec. 1—The city has taken on a Christmas air with the installation of lights and decorations in the downtown area.

The city park, depicting the season of the year, is ablaze with lights. The evergreens on the corners are topped with stars. The lighted silhouettes of the wise men will encircle the band stand.

The nativity scene is being used with other decorations in store windows. Prizes are being offered for the best home decorations. First, second, and third prizes will be given in each of two divisions, for the best lighted home and the best portrayal of the nativity scene.

Santa Claus has notified the Chamber of Commerce that he will check the wants of children here next Saturday evening. For his annual visit down "Santa Claus Lane" in the city park he has set the afternoon of Dec. 15.

Award Banquet Is Slated in Jerome

JEROME, Dec. 1 — The Jerome Jaycees will honor outstanding 4-H club members and their leaders at an award banquet Monday night at Woods cafe. Four-H club winners will be presented with halters.

Arrangements are under the leadership of Russell Woolley. Dr. L. V. Huebel will be master of ceremonies. Also present will be Annette Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. Robert Shaw, who was named 1952 rodeo queen. She will be presented with her trophy as winner. Miss Schmidt was sponsored by the Jaycees.

The club also will honor Howard Green, who was sponsored as a candidate to Boys' state this year. All fair board members will be guests.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Christmas belongs particularly to children. It is celebrated in remembrance of a child's birth and its spirit is loving and childlike. That feeling should be fostered in this season of good will and peace of mind, so that the children are taught the true meaning of the occasion—friendliness, and outgiving spirit.

This requires very little use of money. When the cost of Christmas giving is emphasized, the real Christmas is spoiled and its values lost. The Christmas spirit is love and love knows nothing about money values. It counts the world lost, and lost, when it has a free road to the heart of its choice. A word of appreciation and affection, a hand clasped in friendship, a slight token of good will will go farther toward the Christmas feeling than many a costly gift.

Help the children to create their own gifts, to plan Christmas surprises for those who love them and whom they love. Grandmother will be delighted by a Christmas card her grandchild made for her; so will grandpa. Auntie will love the crooked little desk blotter cut and decorated by her favorite niece or nephew. The touch of the child's hands makes his personality bloom in his creation and it is that that draws him close to his family and friends.

Of course all children want to go Christmas shopping. That is part of the fun. Just to "look" in the shops, then figure out how much of all the great store of lovely things they can manage to buy out of the money they have saved for this great occasion is unbounded delight.

This process of looking, of long deliberation, going from one counter to another, is trying to the adult who has many other things on his mind pressing for attention. Time is so precious at this season. But if we remember that this is the very heart of Christmas for the child searching for something rare enough to offer to his best-loved friends, one can be understanding and helpful.

A child may need a suggestion to get off to a good start in his giving. Let it be a suggestion, not an order. Unless the child's offering springs from his own longing to show his affection, it is useless. The Christmas spirit blesses the loving gesture, the selfless giving, and these are the personal expression of the spirit and can never be born under the pressure of another. Giving in the true spirit enriches the giver and it is that spiritual enrichment Christmas offers all children. Help them toward it.

At one time or another every child develops annoying habits. Dr. Patri explains how to overcome these habits in his booklet No. 803, "Annoying Habits." To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

ORGANIZED SPORTSMEN CALL FOR LICENSE COST INCREAS

Strong Stand Is Taken on Idaho Dredging Operations

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—A call for increases in hunting and fishing license costs and big game tags to cover "skyrocketing" cost of fish and game department operations and a firm stand against dredging highlighted the annual convention here Saturday of the Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's clubs. More than 100 sportsmen from 11 counties in the fourth district met here to make recommendations to be passed on to the Idaho fish and game commission and the state legislature. Proposals also will be presented before next week's three-day meeting of the Idaho Wildlife federation in Boise.

Fewer recommendations were presented than in past years, but considerable time was spent on the problems of financing hunting and fishing in Idaho.

A resolution passed by the group said, "Realizing the tremendous increases in fishing pressure and that the costs of maintenance and improving of fishing streams has risen beyond present appropriations, the fourth district sportsmen recommend the following increases in licenses and big game tags. We further propose that 80 per cent of the increased revenue be used directly for stream improvement, fish propagation and game management."

Recommendations were to increase the non-resident game hunting licenses to $100 compared with Montana and Wyoming, increase resident combination licenses to $5 and individual hunting and fishing licenses to $3 each, increase the five-day tourist fishing permits to $3 and increase the non-resident fishing license to $15.

The group also proposes increases for big game tag fees to $2 for deer and $4 for elk.

In other legislative committee proposals, the group voted to recommend the abolition of the Big Lost River and Soldier Mountain game preserves in order to provide more flexible game control and better management.

The group favored a proposal advocated by the Times-News to conduct an extensive educational program to combat the problem of the lost hunter.

A resolution passed by the district asks that "an educational program be instituted to curb the problems of the lost hunter" as proposed by the Times-News.

A meeting will be called shortly in Twin Falls for fish and game department leaders, forest service officials, sportsmen, law enforcement officers, licensed guides and trappers to formulate a program for state woodsmanship. Out of this meeting will come recommendations that will be used on a state-wide basis for an education program to help solve the lost hunter problem.

Sportsmen voted to support the initiative proposal to be placed on the direct primary ballot law in Idaho to stop damage to fishing streams and big game winter grazing land.

The sportsmen's district is cooperating with the Idaho Wildlife federation to place the initiative on the general election ballot of Nov. 4, 1952.

A similar proposal failed to get passage at the last session of the legislature.

Other recommendations included:

Fishing

A general salmon fishing policy be left up to the fish and game department.

The general trout season the same as in 1951.

Little Wood river and Fish creek have the same opening date as Big Wood river, instead of two weeks later.

The Malad river and tributaries above Magic reservoir open at the same time as Big Wood river.

The opening date for Big Wood river and tributaries above the swinging seep bridge will be June 15.

Bag and possession limits for trout remain the same as in 1951.

The Utah fish and game department should be complimented for its fish planting program in the fourth district.

Regulations remain the same on Silver creek as in 1951.

Sublett reservoir and tributaries and Lake Cleveland in Cassia county be closed to fishing from later than Aug. 15 because of low water conditions late in the year.

Migratory Waterfowl

The season for migratory waterfowl in 1952 run from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31.

Upland Game Birds

No season recommended for sage hens until in the spring when surveys on bird conditions will be made by the fish and game department.

The fish and game department be commended for its ample control program and that the same program continue and be enlarged.

The partridge season coincide with the pheasant season and no season for quail.

A motion to keep present pheasant bag limits. And increase the season by seven days was tabled pending spring surveys.

Big Game

The district desires an extensive education program for hunters on safety in the woods and the care and handling of meat.

A series of articles be published in the Idaho Wildlife Review, state fish and game department magazine, on winter big game feeding projects.

Paul Thoman, Twin Falls, fish and game commission chairman; Tom Murray, Boise, fish and game department director; A. E. Briggs, Burley, supervisor of the Minidoka national forest, and Ross Leonard, Salt Lake City, representative of the American Wildlife institute, gave short talks at the meeting. Leonard was to be guest speaker at an evening banquet.

Dr. George Scholer, Twin Falls, was reelected to serve his third term as district president. Directors elected are Richard Ransom, Hailey; Merrit Barnes, Rupert, and Rulon Bauschi, Challis.

Mrs. Myrtle Burdett, mayor of Shoshone, welcomed sportsmen to the meeting.

A moment of silence was observed in honor of Crom Martindale, Shoshone, a pioneer in the organized sportsmen's movement in Magic Valley, who died recently.

TCU, Baylor Battle Way Into Bowl Games

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Texas Christian, Baylor and Texas Tech won football games today and immediately accepted bowl bids. Notre Dame and Tennessee also triumphed while Army and Holy Cross were defeated as the frantic 1951 season came to a virtual close.

Texas Christian became the Southwest conference champion by defeating Southern Methodist 13-2. The triumph sent the Horned Frogs into the New Year's day Cotton bowl extravaganza against Kentucky.

Baylor didn't give up its chances for the Southwest title without a struggle, mowing down Rice, 34-13 on the spectacular play of Larry Isbell. That put the Bears in the Orange bowl opposite Georgia Tech. The Georgia Engineers closed out their season by smothering Georgia 48-6.

Texas Tech squeezed past Hardin-Simmons, took the Border conference title and automatically became the host team in El Paso's Sun bowl on Jan. 1 with College of Pacific furnishing the opposition.

The three other bowl assignments were made earlier. Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 eleven, received a good scare before downing Vanderbilt 35-27, and will carry an unbeaten record into the Sugar bowl against Maryland. Maryland was idle today.

Illinois, Big 10 champion, and Michigan State, conference titlists, collide in the Rose bowl and Miami is the foe of Clemson in Jacksonville's 'Gator bowl, come New Year's day.

The last of the season's big Saturdays was one of traditional games and, as usual, traditional upsets. Boston college, winner of only two games all season, scored a last minute touchdown that defeated Holy Cross 19-14. That gave the Crusaders their second setback of the season.

Kansas shoved Missouri into the Big Seven cellar, 41-28, for the Tigers' poorest season since Don Faurot became head coach in 1935. In other midwestern affairs, Oklahoma ground down the injury riddled Oklahoma Aggies 41-6 with freshman Carl Allen leading the Sooners, getting four touchdowns. That was a school record for a single game.

Tulsa belabored Detroit 34-20 in the Missouri Valley conference game that was moved up a full week when Villanova canceled its visit to Oklahoma. Villanova canceled the game after Nick Lotito, its guard and co-captain, was found dead early in the week.

In other affairs, Alabama, also a Cotton bowl team, crushed Auburn 25-7, Louisiana State tripped Tulane 14-13 and Mississippi crushed Mississippi State 49-7.

Broncos Win Bowl Contest

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 1—The Boise Junior college Broncos, led by Merlin Howard, Twin Falls, defeated Bakersfield Junior college 34-14 here Saturday night in the annual Shrine Potato bowl.

It was the second win in two trips and the third straight bowl contest for the Broncs. Boise defeated Taft in the Potato bowl two years ago and played in the Little Rose bowl last year.

Big Problems Face Minor League Clubs

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1 (AP)—still punching after a "rugged" year in the game, baseball's minor leagues gather for their golden jubilee convention, starting Monday, with many problems to solve.

While the 1,200 delegates from the minors wrestle with their television-radio riddle, the high school rule riddle and the 24-hour recall battle, the major leaguers will be cooking up deals — and fanciful — in their hotel rooms.

For it's really a convention of all baseball, carrying the label of the National Association of Minor Leagues. In these days the majors own so many minor league clubs that you'll see the same forces at this meeting as at the big league meeting in New York next week-end.

Many minor leagues — including the class C Pioneer which operates in Utah, Idaho and Montana — plan season starting the week.

George Trautman, president of the National association, calls this "the most important convention in the history of the minors."

Whatever develops it can't top the drama of last year's combined minor-major sessions at St. Petersburg, where they first fired Commissioner Happy Chandler. In the interregnum, Ford Frick has been duly elected and seated as Happy's successor.

The radio-television problem is of vital importance to the minors. Most of the owners are alarmed by the ever-spreading blanket of big league broadcasts seeping into their territory.

Nobody knows what to do about it—if anything. The majors did away with all restrictions on radio and TV last October. Obviously worried too the attorney general's office find them a combination in restraint of trade.

Idaho's Vandals Shade Gonzaga

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Idaho Vandals eked out a 60-57 basketball victory tonight over a surprisingly strong Gonzaga quintet.

Gonzaga held a one-point margin at the end of the first quarter and led at halftime 33-32. Idaho held a 48-43 advantage at the end of the third, but twice had to break a tie in the final period before a long one-handed push shot by Bruce McIntosh gave the Vandals a 52-51 lead they never relinquished.

Idaho closed out its scoring with free throws as the Bulldogs tried desperately to break up Idaho stalling in the final three minutes.

Dredge Proposal Has Big Backing in Area

SHOSHONE, Dec. 1—Dredge operators in Idaho would be forced to a virtual standstill if the proposed initiative backed by organized sportsmen here Saturday is placed on the ballot next November and passed by voters at the general election.

Strict controls on repairs to stream beds and settling beds for silt stirred up by a dredge would place that type of mining operation out of the reach of most operators at the present prices of ore, observers reported here.

General terms of the proposal require large settling beds for all water to run into before going downstream. This would halt the steady flow of muddy water present under current dredging operations. Tons of silt churned up by dredges kills all fish life.

Tons of rock turned up by operations would have to be leveled off and topsoil put back to be replaced so vegetation would grow. Sportsmen point out river bottoms in most areas provide the bulk of the big game winter grazing land.

Sportsmen have been trying for the past 16 years to get such a law on the books in Idaho. No success has been reached in past sessions of the legislature, so the initiative proposal was adopted.

A big task admittedly lies ahead of the organized sportsmen in the state. Approximately 20,000 persons, about 10 per cent of the eligible voters casting ballots for governor in the last election, would have to be petitioned to get the proposal on the ballot next November.

Paul Thoman, Twin Falls, chairman of the state fish and game commission, warned sportsmen that the initiative would cost approximately $12,000 in fees and clerical work before it would be placed on the ballot.

District sportsmen voiced a desire to pay their share in financing the initiative. No steps on finances were taken pending outcome of the proposal at next week's annual meeting in Boise of the Idaho Wildlife federation.

Dr. George Scholer, Twin Falls, reported not only are sportsmen behind the initiative, but so are Granges, cattlemen's groups, other farm interest groups and civic clubs. He said he had no fear that the project could be financed and put over.

Orval William Detweiler, Jerome county, warned sportsmen that even though the initiative is passed by the voters, it could be amended at once by the state legislature.

He recommended that instead of the initiative the bill be introduced again in the legislature.

He added, "Since last year, people have become aware of the problem of dredging. If half the effort was put on letting your legislators know how you feel about it the same as will be put forth on the initiative, there's no doubt that the legislature would pass a good bill."

Sen. Richard Ransom, Blaine county, a director of the district sportsmen's group, explained his position on the bill at the last legislature.

Ransom was chairman of the mining committee where the bill was introduced. He labeled as "false" remarks carried in Boise papers on the stand of his committee.

Ransom said the bill was introduced late, "too late for proper action by the senate" in view of the education problems studies at the last session.

He added, the vote in his committee was 3-2 against the bill. "The bill was further delayed when it was lost, or I should say stolen off my desk for several days. The pressure against it by a few was big. We finally got it on the floor of the senate, but it was postponed indefinitely," Ransom declared.

Hawaii Shellacks College of Idaho In 31-13 Contest

HONOLULU, Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Hawaii Rainbow football team last night smothered College of Idaho 31-13.

It was the first win of the year for the Rainbows and the Idaho squad's fourth loss in 10 starts.

Hawaii scored in the first five minutes. Idaho tied the count. Then the Rainbows ran away to a 24-7 halftime lead on two second-quarter touchdowns and a fieldgoal.

Hawaii added a quick third-quarter touchdown and Idaho scored its second touchdown on a 53-yard sprint by Levon Scott in the final period.

Idaho's first-quarter score came on a 56-yard march of seven running plays. Ted Martin went over after rambling 16 yards around end and Scott plunged for the conversion.

Wendell Trojans Down Bliss 42-36

WENDELL, Dec. 1—The Wendell Trojans opened the 1951-52 basketball season here Saturday night by scoring a 42-36 victory over the Bliss Bears in a hotly contested, early-season contest marked by a lot of fouls.

Wendell took a 12-8 first quarter lead and held the advantage throughout the game. Bliss pulled within three points of the Trojans as the final quarter started.

It was the first basketball game for Wendell under the new coach, Murray Satterfield, and for Bliss under Conch Jay Waite.

Wendell won the junior varsity game 38-18.

Houston Accepts Salad Bowl Bid

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 1 (AP)—Houston university Friday night accepted a bid to play in the Salad bowl football game here on New Year's day.

Decision of Xavier of Cincinnati, O., not to take part in any bowl games this year leaves the field wide open for Houston's opponent.

Bengals Open Gym With Win Over Farmers

POCATELLO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sam Backham led Idaho State to a 62-53 victory over Utah State tonight, firing 17 points to help open the Bengal field house and avenge last night's 51-50 loss to the Aggies of Logan.

An estimated 3,000 fans sat in the new $1,000,000 structure and saw Utah State help to its unenviable position of never taking the lead, and tieing the game only three times.

The Farmers managed a 42-42 knot in a hectic third quarter, after 2-all and 4-all situations early in the game. After the last Aggie tie, John Kobza broke the tie—which had been made on a field goal by Sewell of the Ags—with a shot from the field. The Bengals then moved into their largest lead of the night—53-44, and coasted home.

Paul Captures Mini-Cassia's Cage Jamboree

PAUL, Dec. 1—Paul high school flexed its basketball muscles here Saturday night to win the annual Mini-Cassia basketball jamboree with an undefeated record. The event kicked off the 1951-52 basketball season in Mini-Cassia.

Paul, paced by veterans Dick Schorzman, Leo Bills and Larry Loosli, showed finesse and skill in rolling up big scores.

Paul ended the jamboree with a 3-0 record, followed by Heyburn, 2-1; Malta, 1-2, and Declo, 0-3.

Each team played every other squad in one quarter of regulation basketball, making six sessions for the afternoon-night affair, the Burley high school gymnasium.

Scores were Malta 14, Declo 10; Paul 13, Heyburn 6; Heyburn 15, Malta 3; Paul 11, Declo 7; Heyburn 18, Declo 12; and Paul 26, Malta 2.

Squads in the jamboree will launch regular basketball schedules next week. Most teams will see action Tuesday.

One game is scheduled for Monday night in the valley when Oakley opens its season at Kimberly.

Maryland-Gridmen Get Good Report

COLLEGE PARK, Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Maryland's board of regents has assured Governor McKeldin that "there is nothing in Maryland athletics that could possibly bring dishonor on the school."

The regents issued their report in a 10-page document after an all-day meeting.

The meeting was touched off by a letter Maryland's governor wrote to the regents Nov. 20 in which he asked for their opinion "as to the propriety of the present system of recruiting athletes, the academic pursuits required of them and what employment, if any, they get beyond their tuition."

AAU Declines to Reconsider Rule On Jim Thorpe

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—The National Amateur Athletic union refused today to change its decision about Jim Thorpe, one of the all-time athletic greats.

The famed athlete admitted, after going to the 1912 Stockholm olympics and winning many trophies, that he had played professional baseball.

When this evidence was presented after the 1913 games, the AAU ruled Thorpe ineligible and made him return the prizes. A resolution adopted today said "no facts have been presented to cause a reversal of the decision."

Big Game Hunting Success Is High In Northern Area

LEWISTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Big game hunters in Idaho's second district killed almost 20 per cent more elk and deer this year than in 1950, District Supervisor Harry Palmer of the fish and game department said today.

Palmer said 16,001 hunters were checked on the area estimated to have sought game in the district.

They killed 3,550 elk, 2,815 deer, 274 bear, four cougars and 11 moose, the latter figure a record. There is no open moose season in Idaho.

Palmer attributed much of the increased kill to the Sept. 20 opening in the upper Selway country. The area generally opens Oct. 1.

"More hunters were after meat this year," Palmer declared, "and they probably hunted longer and harder."

Exploding Navy Rocks Army 42-7 For Biggest Triumph of Series

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—A quick opening break and a 101-yard touchdown plebe John Faster lit a fuse under the slumbering Navy football giant today and stampeding over Army's rag-tag forces for a 42-7 victory. It was the most humiliating Army defeat in the 62-year-old service football rivalry. A crowd of 99,000 watched the historical stadium's huge horseshoe as the battered Middies, a big bungling team that had won only one of its eight previous games this year, poured it on their crib-shattered enemy.

The worst previous Army shellacking at the hands of the Midshipmen was 24-0 in 1890, when this colorful spectacle was launched.

Raster, a lean 19-year-old fledgling from Toledo, O., provided the most sensational play on this balmy afternoon when he intercepted a Fred Meyers' pass in his own end-zone and burst up the sidelines like a rifle shot.

Army's warriors, who had been knocking at touchdown door when this swift turn took place, watched in surprise as the 170-pound defensive back streaked the length of the field for Navy's third score of the first period.

The other chief executioners were Mike Sorrentino, a ball-handling Houdini from Sharon Hills, Pa., and Vic Vine, a slashing runner from Garrettsville, O.

They engineered the other three Navy touchdowns in the first half which followed successively a fluke-bound opening kickoff, a fumble and a short kick by the Cadets.

Sorrentino threw for two of the scores — A 15-yard pass to Frank Brady in the opening period and an 11-yarder to Dean Smith in the fourth.

Jack Perkins and Vine plunged over from the one for two others while the final came in the fading minutes—as if adding insult to injury—when Don Fischer recovered a fumble by Meyers in the Army end zone.

Rooted back on its heels most of the day and confused by the violence of the inspired Midshipmen's play, Army mustered one scoring offensive in the third period.

With Meyers and John Wing taking alternate necks at the gentleman's Middle forward wall, the Cadets moved 42 yards to a touchdown with Meyers slicing across from the four-yard line.

A freak play on the opening kickoff opened the door for Navy and made it obvious from the start that this was strictly a day for the men from Annapolis.

Elwin Shanke, kicking off for Army, tried an on-side kick.

After the ball had bounced from hand to hand in the middle of the field, Joe Zabrowski, a 204-pound Navy tackle, pounced on it on Army's 40.

In exactly 13 plays—vicious stabs into the small, inexperienced Army line and end sweeps around it—Navy with their first touchdown.

Moments later, John Gurski intercepted a fumble by Army's Dick Inman on the Army 27. This time it took just four thrusts to go the rest of the way, with Sorrentino's pass to Brady completing the effort.

Raster's pulsating run came just before the first period ended, packing those Navy touchdowns into a single quarter.

Navy was so dominant that Bob Zastrow, the 200-pound star of last year's 14-2 upset victory over Army, didn't get into the game until the third period. He played only a few minutes.

Interest Is Good For Oilers' Game

Irish Trip USC 19-12 In Last Six Minutes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, marching in ghost-like fashion for 94 yards for the winning touchdown through the gloom of a fog-filled stadium, defeated their old rivals, the Trojans of Southern California in the final minutes, 19-12.

Led by a Green-bred freshman, Ralph Guglielmi, three seniors who made their debuts as starters at Notre Dame, and a broken nose, the Irish broke a 12-all deadlock with six minutes left on a drive that would not be denied.

Halfback John Petitbon, playing his first game of the season, raced right end on a pitchout for 14 yards, and soon thereafter Guglielmi, a 19-year-old sophomore from South Bend, Ind., hit Victor Worsley, Los Angeles coliseum to the cheers of the 55,783 fans, rejoicing in the 14th victory in this silver anniversary battle with the Trojans.

This payoff punch was the winning point for a Trojan team that had been favored from the start and throughout most of the game.

Then the Irish never seemed to know they could be whipped until they came from behind to win. They came from behind to tie the score before going out in front for the winning points.

The windup of the season for the Irish with seven wins, two losses and one tie. The Trojans, as moody as a coach's brow, finished out of the big money and finished with seven wins and four losses.

The crowd, one of the largest in the long history of the intersectional series here, braved a drizzling rain at the start and remained through a livelier downpour at the finish.

The Trojans, stopped inside the scoring thruste in the first quarter when the 33, again on the one, after intercepting a pass. Charley Hall's 35-yard underway late in the period.

They went 65 yards on a drive that was kicked off by Frank Gifford's pass for the first touchdown. Gifford, after he had swept left end to tie the first score, passed to Dean with the second period just starting.

Washington Evens Series With Utes

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1 (AP)—Washington's Huskies battered Utah into submission with a 60-44 basketball victory tonight, avenging last night's 62-61 humiliation at the hands of the Utes.

The game was Washington all the way and the Huskies, led by 20-point-making Bob Houbregs, grabbed a 31-20 halftime lead, and then rolled relentlessly over the Utes in the third quarter.

Interference

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 1 (AP)—The president of the Idaho Coaches association has recommended that the state fish and game commission consider opening the deer and elk seasons on Saturday or Sunday.

Francis M. Clark, Idaho Falls mentor and president of the coaches group, said opening day of the hunting season in past years interfered with school attendance and high school football practice.

The game commission meets in Boise Dec. 7.

Idaho Cagers Nip Seattle 74-71 in Year's First Game

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Idaho defeated Seattle university 74-71 in a nip-and-tuck non-conference basketball game Friday night.

It was the season's-opener for Idaho and the first loss in four starts for the Seattle Chieftains who averaged 91 points per game in their first three.

The Vandals, who went into the second quarter trailing 14-13 piled up a five-point margin during that period, then lapsed to lead by a narrow 31-29 at halftime.

Seattle's famed Johnny O'Brien, who led the scoring with a 24-point total, did most of his work in the third quarter and the Chieftains led 51-49 at the end of that period.

Hook shots by Hartley Kruger, Stu Dollinger and Bob White sent Idaho into the lead and the final victory in the fourth.

The game was tied 11 times before Idaho gained a 10-point margin, its biggest of the game, with three minutes left to play.

However Idaho's attempt to freeze the ball in the final two minutes was unsuccessful as Seattle's Johnny O'Brien and Jack Dougherty scored six points between them.

Idaho made full use of its superior height as the Chieftains tired noticeably in the fourth. Both teams used the fast break, Idaho's appearing ragged at times.

Seattle outdid the Vandals in accuracy of shots, making 25 out of 58 tries for the basket, compared with Idaho's 29 successful shots out of 81 tries.

Kruger paced the Vandal scoring with 18 points. Harlan Melton was next with 14 and Morrison with 13.

AAU President Raps Colleges For Athletics

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—American educational leaders have betrayed their sports trust, President Avery Brundage of the United States Olympic committee told AAU convention delegates here.

"Our educational leaders and institutions have allowed sports to be misused for commercial profit," Brundage said in an address.

"Sports right now is in trouble. It is under attack. The AAU has a function in these days of scandals and disgrace in fields which should be spotlessly clean."

Brundage said that the state department and the department of defense are cooperating with the AAU and the Olympic board.

"It is more important than ever to send a large and strong U. S. team to the 1952 Olympic games," said Brundage. "For the first time Russian athletes will be eligible to compete, and they probably will. The Olympic movement is a grand festival of youth regardless of color, creed, politics or anything and it is very important that we send our best athletes to the 1952 games to demonstrate to the world that we are good."

Earlier, the AAU's track and field committee recommended that the traditional metric system be replaced, except in Olympic years, by the English yardage system in all championship field events sanctioned by the AAU.

The AAU's 1953 national basketball championships were awarded to Denver, Colo., also site of the 1953 competition.

Boston, Spokane, Cleveland and Dallas are bidding for the 1952 AAU convention but the next meeting city will not be decided until Sunday when officers are elected.

Rickey Hopes To Get Rule Changes Made

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1 (AP)—Branch Rickey, a man with a record for accomplishment in baseball, is going to the minor league annual meeting with a determination to get the high school rule changed.

Rickey, engaged in the terrific job of trying to rebuild the Pittsburgh Pirates into a pennant winning ball club, says a manager should be able to sign a high school youth to a contract.

The present rule forbids a manager from even talking business with a high school student. Rickey says the law is being violated—and often.

He thinks a proposed amendment to the rule that would permit baseball's front office to have a heart to heart talk with a high school boy, but forbids a contract, is equally ridiculous.

The old Mahatma, who braved the criticism of the fans when he signed the first Negro to play in the major leagues and organized the farm club system, says:

"I'm sticking my neck out. I believe I will be criticized more than ever before."

But criticism never stops Rickey. That's why he is preparing for a stiff campaign at the minor league meeting in Columbus next week to make it legal to sign a high school boy but not to pay him or play him.

"I need a lot of support in this fight," he says, then adds:

"I believe the high schools must come to a different definition of amateurism. I believe the parents with the cooperation of their sons should not be deprived of the right to make contracts for future services."

Ken McBeth Leads Pistol Shooters Again in Matches

Ken McBeth took top honors again this week in the fifth inter-club pistol matches at the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club. The young marksman posted a 273 score out of a possible 300.

Johnny's Drive-In continued to hold the team leadership with a 13-7 record. Others were Union Motors, 10-10; Albertson's 9-11, and Parks Trailer Sales 8-12.

Scores included:

Albertson's—McBeth, 273; Cliff Sharp, 236; Bert Bays, 228, and O. Widner, 137.

Union Motors—Jim Bays, 268; C. Walcott, 235; Jim Valentine, 234, and Pat Burns, 207.

Johnny's Drive-In—Jim Sidwell, 265; Eva Rosa, 253; David O'Harrow, 230; Dave Tickner, 236, and Clyde Rosa, 170.

Parks Trailer Sales—Jack Donner, 273; V. Hunt, 244; Francis Sharp, 232; S. Herrit, 220; J. Jones, 216, and Francis Ashcraft, 219.

Durando, Young Battle to Draw

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Rock-throwing Ernie Durando and tough Paddy Young battled to a furious 10-round draw Friday night in a toe-to-toe slugfest that easily was the most exciting battle of the new Madison Square Garden fight season.

With a non-title Jan. 25 shot at middleweight champ Sugar Ray Robinson dangling for the winner, the two young bombers poured it on in savage flurries.

There were no knockdowns although Durando, a 25-year-oldster from Bayonne, N. J., seemed on the way in the sixth and Paddy, pride of New York's Greenwich village, was almost ready to go in the ninth.

Athletic Council Stops Utah Plans To Play in Bowl

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Utah athletic council announces that the Ute football team will not play in the Pineapple bowl after all.

The athletic council unanimously voted to overrule a second vote by the team.

The Skyline conference champs on Monday had voted against the trip 22-21, and also voted to spurn an offer to play in the Sun bowl in El Paso, Tex.

A second player vote was taken Thursday, and all 43 men were in favor of the Pineapple bowl bid in Honolulu. At that time, Coach Jack Curtice said he would wire University of Hawaii officials to see if the guarantee for the Utes could be upped from $12,500 to $15,000. Curtice said that much would be needed to take a traveling squad to Honolulu.

Temple, Dons to Play in Bowl Game

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—Temple university has accepted an invitation to appear in the third annual Soccer bowl game to be played in St. Louis Dec. 30 at Sportsman's park.

Temple, undefeated during the past two seasons, will meet the University of San Francisco.

Harvard Coach Wants More Sports Emphasis

By LLOYD JORDAN
Harvard Coach and President of the National Football Coaches Association

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 1 (AP)—More emphasis should be placed on college athletics. Their importance in the education of the youth of this country should be recognized and the value of intercollegiate competition stressed. What should be de-emphasized are the barnacles which have become attached to the college athletic program.

College athletics have always followed the trend of the times. When it was the custom for man to go to work for small wages and work himself up to a position in an organization where he could command a decent salary, students used to enter college with the determination and desire to play on the scrub teams until they had won, by their efforts, a position on the first eleven.

In recent years it has become the general practice for man to scheme for top berths in business and other fields without serving any apprenticeship.

College athletics are suffering from the general thinking that is going on in this country. Boys are no longer satisfied to start on the scrub team and work themselves up. They want to run with the ball without hurling a block. They want to be assured of a return for any of their efforts before putting any effort into something.

Having acquired these ideas from their elders, students entering college nowadays are inclined to accept the path of least resistance and get as much as possible for nothing.

I'm sure the football coaches of America recognize the current problems and are doing their best to remedy the ailments which have crept into college sports. If given the opportunity and the necessary encouragement they will clean up their own back yard.

Peterson Given Fight in Boise On Foul Charge

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Big Bill Petersen, 220, Chicago, was awarded the match over George Parmentier, 232, Kellogg, on a fourth round foul Friday night after being sent to the canvas twice.

Referee Phil Uberuaga awarded Petersen the fight after Dr. J. G. Dianes, ringside physician, said he couldn't go on.

Petersen went down for a count of nine early in the fourth and was floored again for a count of five before the bell saved him. Petersen crawled around the ring on all fours after the first knockdown, holding his lower left side, but managed to get up to meet another Parmentier onslaught.

After a consultation and the doctor's examination, Referee Uberuaga awarded the bout to Petersen, declaring the blow that sent him to the canvas for the second time was a foul.

In a double semi-windup, Garth Panter, 162, Dayton, Ida., outpointed Bull Halsey, 168, Portland, in six rounds and Ken Nichols, 160, Boise, was awarded a technical knockout over Bobby King, 167, Montreal, in the third round of their scheduled six rounder.

Brooklyn Bookie Nabbed as Briber

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Joseph Serota, 38-year-old Brooklyn bookie, has been arrested on a bribery charge stemming from college basketball's game-rigging scandal.

Serota, picked up in Scranton, Pa., and brought here for questioning Wednesday night, was booked today on a charge of bribing a participant of an amateur basketball contest.

He is accused of handing $2,000 to Harvey (Connie) Schaff, former New York university court star, on the eve of a NYU-Cornell university game played at Madison Square Garden last New Year's day.

Dartmouth Has Hot Statement For Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—"Outrageous" is how Dartmouth Coach Tuss McLaughry describes charges made by Princeton football players that his team had been "out to get" All-America Dick Kazmaier last Saturday.

The verbal battle started when Kazmaier received a broken nose and a slight concussion in the Princeton-Dartmouth game. Later in the gridiron battle, Dartmouth's second string quarterback Jack Miller received a broken leg. Princeton won the game 13-0 after 12 men from both teams had been helped off the field.

The Daily Princetonian, student newspaper, quoted Tiger Quarterback George Stevens as saying, "Kaz was being roughed up on just about every play in the first quarter by Dartmouth's number 80 (end Boy Myers)."

At Hanover, N. H., Myers said films of the game "prove I was nowhere near Kazmaier when he was put out of action. I can say with a clear conscience I never have injured any player intentionally."

McLaughry stated, "As head of the East team that will play in the Shrine game in San Francisco, I know several days before the Princeton game that Kazmaier had accepted an invitation to be one of our players. Therefore it should be obvious that I did not desire to have him banged up against Dartmouth."

About the latest Princetonian charges he said, "I repeat my previous statement that they are 'outrageous and almost too ridiculous to be commented upon.'"

Anglers Can Look Forward To U. S. Help

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UP)—Fishermen can look forward to bigger and better catches because of a new federal law.

Under the Dingell-Johnson act, states will develop their fishing resources from federal funds gathered from an excise tax on sport fishing tackle.

About $2,600,000 will be spent this year by the states under the new program. Almost 70 per cent of the money is expected to be for projects classified as "research" since fisheries investigations in most states have lagged because of a scarcity of funds.

Development projects, such as construction of fishing lakes and stream improvement, will follow the research activity.

Each state's share of the federal revenue will be based on the number of fishing licenses sold and the area of the state, although no state may receive more than five per cent or less than one per cent of the total.

Three states received the maximum amount of $128,745 this year—California, Michigan and Minnesota.

Connecticut, Delaware, Louisiana, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont were allotted the minimum grant of $25,749.

On all Dingell-Johnson projects, as under the Pittman-Robertson federal aid game program, the states must put up $1 for each $3 of federal aid received.

Michigan, Missouri, and Pennsylvania have been carrying on fisheries research for several years on their own and are now ready to use the federal money for development rather than research projects.

Pennsylvania already has submitted plans to the National Wildlife federation for construction of a new fishing lake in the Pittsburgh area.

Quiet Way

DODGE CITY, Tex., Dec. 1 (AP)—Ralph Stone will tell you there's more than one way to bag a deer.

Stone and Jean Hayes were working cattle on the Dies ranch when he spotted a deer near the herd.

Miss Hays rode around the deer to block him off. Stone roped and bulldogged him.

Result: One irate, seven-point buck, alive and kicking.

Football Powers In Southeastern League Set Pace

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—What college conference plays the winningest brand of football in games outside their own league? Is it the rough and tough Big 10 or the pass-happy, offensive-minded Southwest conference? Or the high-spirited Southeastern and Southern conferences?

Cold figures show the brand of football played in the Southeastern conference produces more victories in non-conference games.

The SEC powers, led by powerful Tennessee, have won 35 of 43 games with non-conference foes this season for an awesome .814 winning average. Every member of the conference, which annually supplies numerous bowl teams and this year placed three elevens in as many post-season games, shows a winning average against non-SEC teams.

Dixie football also supplied the conference with the next-to-the worst non-conference record; however. The sprawling Southern conference's 17 members have won 25, dropped 35 for a .417 average. Only mighty Maryland, which is 4-0 outside the league, can boast a perfect record in non-conference games.

The Border conference, which won eight but lost 26 against non-conference teams for a percentage of .235, finished below the Southern conference. Arizona State at Tempe, with a 2-2 non-league record, was the best of the Border teams on outside games.

Paced by Baylor, Texas and cellar-dwelling Texas A and M (all with 4-0 records), the Southwest conference ranks behind the Southeastern in winning percentage with a .714 record on 20 wins, eight defeats.

Fans who like Pacific Coast conference football can ignore the Rose bowl results for the past few years, for their teams rank third in the figures with a .633 percentage on 19 victories and only 11 losses. Their record is bolstered by Stanford, California and Washington State, all with 3-0 marks in non-conference play.

It may come as something of a shock to rabid Big 10 partisans, but their favorite teams were matched in winning percentage by the lightly-regarded Ivy league. Both leagues finished with 15-11 records and .577 averages.

Move to Keep Cagers Out of Arena Starts

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 1 (AP)—Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, president of the Southeastern conference, says he expects the conference at its December meetings to ban all basketball games not played in conference controlled gymnasiums.

Mitchell, president of Mississippi State college, also termed post season football games "rackets" and said, "my solution is to get rid of them entirely."

But, he added in an athletics forum before state college alumni here Wednesday night, he does not expect the conference to ban bowl games.

He said he believed conference action to restrict basketball games to conference controlled gyms would reduce the possibility of fixed games and shaved margins of victory.

Mitchell said he would propose to the December SEC meeting that bowl games be banned but added that because of Tulane's position on the matter he did not believe any action would be taken to bar conference teams from the Sugar bowl.

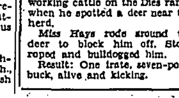

In terming bowl games "rackets," Mitchell said they are held solely for the benefit of hotel owners, restaurants and concessionaries who, he said, charge exorbitant prices.

He told of a friend who, wanting to attend the Orange bowl in Miami, learned his hotel room would cost $100 a day and he would have to take it for four days.

Mitchell said he would propose that the SEC require bowl teams to share their gross proceeds with other conference members.

Acceptance of the proposal, he predicted, would mean an end of bowl competition in the Southeastern conference.

Officers Nab Trunk Slayer - Winnie Judd

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 1 (AP)—Trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd was locked up in her room at the Arizona hospital for the insane today, convinced that a friend who inadvertently tipped police to her whereabouts had double-crossed me."

The "blonde tiger woman" was recaptured without a struggle last night as she walked along a Phoenix street just 16 blocks from the asylum from which she made good her fourth escape 24 hours earlier.

Hates to Return

She protested that she was "sick" and said she hated to return to the institution where she was sent after her conviction for murdering two women friends and shipping their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk.

A burglary complaint from Mrs. Ellen Evans, a friend of Mrs. Judd, led to the capture. Mrs. Evans reported a suit coat and a fur coat had been stolen from her home. Officers investigating the report found Mrs. Judd.

"I had known Ruth had my clothes I never would have reported her," said Mrs. Evans, an employe at the hospital.

Friend of Slayer

Mrs. Evans was reminded that Mrs. Judd was an escapee, but she added, "I don't care, I wouldn't report her." She said Mrs. Judd had cared for her when she was ill. "When no one else paid any attention to me."

Told that Mrs. Evans had reported the theft, Mrs. Judd replied:

"She was a good friend, and now she's double-crossed me."

Officers who captured the murderess said they found a billfold containing a razor blade inside the front of her dress.

"I'll kill myself before I'll go back," Patrolman Harold De Witt quoted her as saying. "I can't stand it cooped up any longer."

The razor blade was taken away from her.

Award Presented By Toastmasters

Henry Wills received the award for the best speech of the evening Thursday at the Perrine Toastmasters club meeting. His topic was "How Did They Get Your Name?"

Kenneth Bledsoe was named the most improved speaker and Dr. Fred Kolouch, Howard Carlyle and Wills tied for first award for table topic talks. Grant Russell was table topics chairman and toastmaster was Ervin Higley.

Elmer Perl and Dr. Glenn Voyles were accepted as new members. Guests were Vern Koulee and Sidney Nelson, both Boise.

Payment Asked

A civil suit was begun in district court Saturday by Drs. A. A. Boston and W. M. Peterson to collect $1,459.50 from Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kirk, Twin Falls.

It is alleged in the complaint the amount is owed the doctors on an open account. In addition, they seek six per cent interest and costs. Their attorney is Robert Balleisen.

Record Set Here For People After Work in Harvest

Just one phase of the impact of the potato industry is seen in records set during the harvest by farmers seeking labor from the local office of the employment security office and by workers seeking employment in the potato fields.

Manager Ronald S. Cutler said 6,421 persons came to the office seeking work during October, the largest number to call at any employment security agency office in the state. However, he explained a large percentage of this number is represented by students seeking part-time harvest work.

The local office made 4,422 agricultural placements last October as compared to 2,620 in October, 1950. Cutler said much of this increase came from a policy of placing temporary placement personnel in Filer and Kimberly schools this year for the first time.

A smaller increase was shown in non-agricultural placements — 382 last October and 314 in October, 1950.

Probate for Will Sought in Court

A petition to probate the will of Meda D. Long was filed Saturday by her grandson, Domer W. Bertsch, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Long died Nov. 17 in Twin Falls. Heirs include two sons, Robert D. Long, Boise, and William F. Long, LaGrande, Ore.; a daughter-in-law, Bertie Faye Long, Twin Falls; granddaughter, Elsie Mildred Cowham, Twin Falls; grandson, Frederick W. Bertsch, San Luis Obispo, Calif.; granddaughter, Ruth Wilma Sharp, Twin Falls, and Domer Bertsch.

The petitioner is named executor of the estate in a will dated April 6, 1949. He consents to act in that capacity. The estate includes a residence, bank accounts, bonds and a promissory note estimated not to exceed $15,000 in value.

Exposition Ends

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The 52nd International Livestock exposition ended tonight, after an estimated 420,000 persons crowded into the vast international amphitheater during the eight day show to see the cream of American and Canadian livestock and farm crops.

Exhibitors from 35 states and six Canadian provinces began leaving for home, many of them with prize money and ribbons.

Special Items Scheduled on Board Parley

In addition to routine business, the agenda for Monday night's meeting of the board of city commissioners contains two special items of business, according to R. J. Schwendiman, chairman.

One concerns consideration of revision of building permit fees for certain categories of estimated costs and the other concerns final action upon bids submitted last Monday for rental of lands at the old and new airports.

Schwendiman said the airport commission studied the bids this week and has made its recommendations. It is one of three commissions acting in an advisory capacity to the city commissioners.

Concerning the airport commission's meeting, its second since its recent formation, Chairman Lionel Dean reported there was discussion of the feasibility of floodlighting the tie down area and erection of a tool and equipment building near the administration and fire control buildings.

The airport commission also recommended a flagpole be erected at Joslin field, in the circle in front of the administration building. Schwendiman said this will be done at the same time a flagpole is ordered for the new city hall.

At the airport commission's first meeting it recommended the land rentals upon which final action will be taken Monday night and also recommended an aircraft "graveyard" be cleaned up. Dean reported this has been cleaned and has been bulldozed level.

Reactor Plant Chief Busy, but Happy; Peak Expansion Past in Towns of Area

By PAT MUNROE

Washington Staff Correspondent ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION HEADQUARTERS, Idaho Falls, Dec. 1 (Special)—AEC's top man here is a genial westerner, named Bill Johnston, who is expert in both industrial and human pursuits.

Pat Munroe

A veteran engineer at the early age of 40, Johnston has the appearance of a man who enjoys his rigorous schedule. For one thing, he's back in the west, where he was reared. After spending several years in the east, he finds it a real pleasure to hunt and fish and ride horseback again in his few off-hours. As he puts it, he manages to stay pretty well "saddle-spring."

He likes his setup at the $70,000,000 reactor installation and it seems to like him. This despite the fact his tight schedule often calls for a full day of work here, an all-night plane ride to Washington followed by hectic sessions and another all-night plane ride home to more work.

Thanks to early warnings from Johnston, the towns hereabouts haven't seriously "overbuilt." As the working force slims down from its peak 3,000 to its present 2,400 and eventual 1,400, few business concerns or housing developments should suffer great damage.

Unhappy with its experience in setting up other "company towns" at Hanford, Los Alamos and Oak Ridge, AEC decided here to see if project personnel couldn't be absorbed into the surrounding towns. This would be healthier for the workers and a lot cheaper for the U. S., it was hoped.

Johnston and his deputy, Wes Punk, also a westerner, loaded themselves down with speaking dates in the early days of the project, which started in the summer of 1949. They and their top aides also joined local clubs. One says with relief that speaking invitations don't come in very often now "because we're no longer a novelty."

Rob Brady, managing editor of the local daily, concludes that "from the AEC standpoint as well as the communities affected, 'operation integration' has been eminently successful."

Let's see how the project has affected these towns:

Idaho Falls. While the town modestly admits business has been helped, a chamber of commerce pamphlet points out that "many an enervated 'down-easter' has been given a chance to become a citizen of the best in the west."

C. of C. Secretary Cy Davis says that population has increased about 1,000 in the last year to its present 23,000. Some 850 dwelling units were built last year and about 450 will be finished this year. There are few vacancies.

Current high prices for potatoes also have taken the play away from AEC, which is becoming shrouded in deeper secrecy anyhow. The local folks have gotten back to bragging first about their Idaho russets, then about AEC.

The town's also excited about the starting of construction of the $76,000,000 Palisades dam, which will kick out 113,000 kilowatts of electricity by 1956. This is the town nearest the site.

Blackfoot. This town is 40 miles from the test station and enjoyed a lot of growth in its early stages. A new road recently shortened the distance from Idaho Falls to the site from 80 to 50 miles. When asked what would be sent to represent the town at ceremonies opening the short-cut, an embittered citizen replied:

"We'll send a load of dynamite if you'll use it."

But Blackfoot still should get several hundred of the permanent project employes. It now claims 6,000 inhabitants.

Arco. Odd-man-out on the deal is Arco, which is 20 miles from the project. Several houses now are vacant. There's no hospital and an inadequate water and sewage system, although the U. S. has classed it as a critical housing area and may come to the rescue with part of the required $500,000. The town has grown from a pre-AEC count of 500 to 1,800.

Pocatello. Rail shipments into this city of 30,000 have been stimulated greatly. It's an important junction for Union Pacific. Many new firms also use it for a wholesale distribution point with the influx of up to 6,000 new customers in atom country.

The 70-mile trip to the project has discouraged workers from settling down. Some did until closer housing opened up, as it has.

Ticket Agent Views Public

"Dignified or not, Henry, it's lots of fun!"

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

There's something about railroads that fascinates just about everybody—young and old, big and little, rich and poor. Youngsters "chug-chug" and "clang-clang" even before speech habits have been formed.

Marion J. Corak, Union Pacific ticket agent at SHOSHONE, has had a chance to view the comings and goings of all kinds of people as they wait for trains at Shoshone. He has seen their eyes glisten with envy as portly trainmen swing down from their trains to perform their duties in the fascinating parade of travel.

Caught in a web of "proper" behavior, the glistening eyes and surging desires for child-like fun are conquered, he says, but continue to live in the imagination.

Corak likes trains, too. Perhaps that's why he works for one instead of pursuing his natural ability. Corak is a self-taught cartoonist who put his talent to work through a correspondence course. His work became familiar to residents of Shoshone this fall through a school theme cartoon depicted on the cover of the PTA program leaflets.

His greatest service, though, has been in the safety rule cartoons he has drawn for the accident prevention bulletins issued monthly to railroad employes. Through these bulletins his work has become familiar to many U. P. employes.

Corak was born in HOLLISTER, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Corak. He is the eldest of 10 children. After finishing high school he worked at various jobs including farming, mining, elevator operator and ditch rider. But railroading fascinated him just like it does everyone else so he decided to do something about it. He went to work for the Union Pacific in 1941.

From behind his window in the ticket office he watches the people as they watch the trains. He sees them in unguarded moments and sometimes is able to read the suppressed desire in their eyes. He read the light in a woman's eyes recently and couldn't refrain from putting it on paper.

The woman, he said, was dignified and proper but when the baggage cart passed her she could hardly restrain herself from jumping on back for a free ride.

"Had she given away to the impulse," he added, "she probably would have had a lot of fun although the baggage master probably wouldn't have enjoyed it a little bit."

One of the strangest tales to come out of the year's hunting expeditions has to do with an elk ride taken by Oleen Baggett, BUHL. Baggett downed a nice young elk without much trouble and dropped his rifle to run up with his hunting knife to bleed the critter.

Astraddle the young bull, Baggett found himself being hoisted skyward. The wounded animal wasn't dead at all!

Hanging on for dear life, Baggett had the wildest ride of his life. Companions estimated that he must have ridden the elk for a fourth of a mile before he was able to finish it off with the knife.

When the elk finally came down, it was in a little creek and Baggett was on the bottom!

Baggett's only regret is that he had turned down the offer of his photographer-brother, Ivan Baggett, to go along and take movies of the trip!

Morgan Vaughn, who died at EMMETT last month, was one of the early settlers in this area. Born Oct. 29, 1856, in Syracuse, N. Y., he spent several years in Michigan before coming to Idaho.

He married Nellie E. Lounsbury July 5, 1887, in Martinsburg, Nebr., where he was employed for some time as a registered pharmacist. In 1895 the family came by covered wagon to YALE, IDA., where Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lounsbury, parents of Mrs. Vaughn, had migrated. Around 1900 the Vaughns were living near Howell's Ferry on Snake river where Vaughn hauled coal and supplies from the siding at Yale to the gold dredge boats owned and operated by Burroughs brothers, formerly of Chicago.

In 1901 he moved to MINIDOKA and a year later bought the stage line that ran between Minidoka and ALBION. It previously had been owned by Hardy Sears.

In addition, he owned a livery stable and hauled freight to Albion. Crossing the river on the ice, as the freighters were compelled to do when the river was frozen, he once lost a team when the ice broke. At another time a favorite horse was drowned when the ferry tipped over.

When the Minidoka project opened he located people on their various homesteads. Later, engaging in construction work, he helped build the railroad into West Yellowstone. Following termination of a contract with the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad, he returned and helped build the north side branch from RUPERT to BLISS.

Following a contract with the KING HILL project he moved to Emmett where he worked on the McCALL branch and spent several years farming and blacksmithing. He retired in 1934.

A couple of Oklahoma state policemen were in BURLEY recently with a convicted murderer. They were taking him back to Oklahoma to finish out his life term.

The policemen stopped in Burley overnight on a trip from Seattle. They were on their way back to Oklahoma in a state-owned police airplane.

The murderer, after having been an inmate in the Oklahoma state prison for 13 years, decided to take a vacation, the police officers said. That was in 1947. Being a trustee, they explained, he just walked away.

The convicted murderer, who is 60 years old, was picked up at Anchorage, Alaska, this summer on a morals charge and brought to Seattle by a United States marshal. In Seattle he was turned over to the Oklahoma policemen to be returned to Oklahoma penitentiary.

Unlike the small boy who preserved his presidential handshake in a shoebox, Rulon J. Schwendiman could display no lipstick Friday morning from a kiss from Paula Raymond, Hollywood actress, for proclaiming her the Duchess of Twin Falls in a TWIN FALLS appearance Thursday night.

Schwendiman said the kiss topped four consecutive nights of official duties as chairman of the board of city commissioners—Monday with youth officials, Tuesday with the national head of the Elks, Wednesday with 24 Magic Valley air force recruits and Thursday with the visiting Hollywood delegation.

Schwendiman said the three persons who came here from Hollywood were "real nice people," a much higher type than some with whom he came in contact during his association with wartime bond drives.

"Our Lack of Leadership"

By DONALD B. BLACKSTONE
(Pastor, Presbyterian Church)

In a discussion of national affairs over coffee cups a few days ago, an excellent point was made. It was put this way, "Our country's greatest need today is LEADERSHIP spelled with capital letters." My reply was, "I suppose that you mean that our need is for able men of good character."

Rev. Blackstone

"That's part of it," my friend agreed, "but what I mean is LEADERSHIP, period."

The more he talked about "LEADERSHIP, period," the more it became clear to me what he had in mind. Translating his words into my language this is what he said:

By leadership he meant the inclination to be a "ball carrier"—to accept responsibility for getting the ball over the goal line. I know from long experience that "ball carriers" are hard to find. Again and again I have asked myself, "Why are 'ball carriers' so hard to find?" The answer would seem to be that only participants in the game can ever qualify as "ball carriers." In our country in the last half century we have raised a million "spectators" for every "player" whom we have trained. It's life wonder that we are short of "ball carriers." Again to be a "ball carrier" a man has to love the game more than he loves himself. But for a long time now, "self-love" has been our accepted standard and our most popular obsession. Anyway, "ball carriers" have been terribly scarce and so have "leaders."

By "leadership" this man meant the determination to play the game according to fair rules." This is where morality and religion come into leadership. In order to be a "leader" a man or woman has to have a clear idea, based on good authority, as to what is right and what is wrong. But in addition to having a clear conviction about what is right and what is wrong, a "leader" has to have a long established habit of accepting what is right and rejecting what is wrong. My friend claims that we are a little short of such men in "the seats of the mighty."

By "leadership" this man meant the sincere desire on the part of the player to add new glory to the honorable tradition of the institution for which he was playing the game." A "leader" always needs to be conscious of the great players who have preceded him in his position. He needs to regard them with respect and reverence—and also with loyalty. He needs to feel an obligation to "add new glory to the honorable tradition" in which he stands.

How can we ever hope to have such leaders?

Great leaders can be raised in any good home; they can be educated in any good school. They can be taught and inspired in any good church. They can be respected and appreciated in any good community.

This being true, "what are we waiting for?" The providing of higher quality leadership is obviously our most urgent need and our most pressing responsibility. Let's get to it, NOW. It's not a minute too soon to begin.

Tax Conference Set Three Days By Accountants

The third annual Idaho tax conference, sponsored by the Idaho Association of Public Accountants and the National Society of Public Accountants, will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Boise Junior college.

Officers of the association are L. M. Benton, president; Tom Mahan, Jerome, vice president, and Mrs. Jack Waegelin, secretary-treasurer. Benton and Mrs. Waegelin plan to go to Boise to meet Jacob Rabkin, conference speaker, and his wife and take them on a tour of Boise valley.

Rabkin, a New York City attorney and New York university law professor, will speak on tax problems of partnerships and corporate reorganizations. Other speakers include Raphael Sherry, Washington, D. C., treasury department assistant tax legislative counsel; Willard Bowen, Pocatello accountant; A. Rulon Jackson, Salt Lake City attorney and accountant, as well as a number of other experts.

Fringe Makes Gifts You Can Make Yourself

Even the woman who can't sew will find these gifts easy to make. Triangular stole (upper left) is monk's cloth trimmed in wool fringe. Evening bag (left center) is made of cosmetic bag and silver satin fringe. Guest towels (lower left) are made individual by fringe trim. Evening stole (above) is cotton satin in an oblong shape. Evening bag (upper right) is easily handmade of gold upholstery brocade. Ordinary cotton gloves (right center) becomes high fashion with fringe trim. Burlap place mats (lower right) take on expensive look through cord rope and bushy fringe trim. All gifts take minimum time to make.

Clever Gifts Are Made Easily If You'll Follow These Ideas

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

Not every woman who must pull Christmas presents out of a budget is a needlewoman, handy at whipping up gifts from a half yard of fabric and lots of intricate sewing directions. For the woman who can't sew but must make some presents, there's a simple solution.

Evening bags, stoles, place mats, gift towels, smart gloves can all be made by a woman who owns no real knowledge of sewing. There's an added attraction in the fact that each gift can be made on a sewing machine or by hand.

The simplest plan for a pretty evening bag begins with a 25 cent cosmetic bag from the neighborhood 5-and-10 cent store. Get the envelope kind with a zipper top.

Then, at the trimming counter in the drapery department of your local department store, you'll find satin fringe looped into gold, silver or cream. You'll need about three and one-half yards.

Begin at the bottom of the cosmetic bag and sew the fringe on in even rows so that each row overlaps the one below. When you're finished the bag will be completely covered with fringe and you'll have a gift fit for a glamor girl.

A second evening bag can be made drawstring style from heavy gold upholstery brocade. You'll want a quarter of a yard in the 54-inch width. At one end of the fabric, cut two perfect circles, each 5½ inches in diameter.

From heavy cardboard, cut another circle five inches in diameter and insert it between the two fabric circles, basting to hold the cardboard intact. This is the bottom of the bag.

Now, cut a strip of material nine inches wide and 30 inches long. Baste a lining to this strip, using satin cotton. Along one length of the fabric, sew a conso shirring tape. This has a cord running through the center which, when pulled, creates an even shirring.

Close the two sides of the fabric strip together by hand hemming. Hem the top of the bag, insert two gold-colored cords, each cut 12 inches in length. When you've pulled them through, knot each end. That's the drawstring.

For trim, buy two yards of gold rayon bouillon fringe in a one-inch width. At the bottom of the bag, sew around four rows so that each overlaps the one below. Stuff the bag with tissue paper, wrap it and that's all there is to it.

Simplest gift to make is a pair of fringe-trimmed gloves. You buy the gloves, in a beige cotton and a plain style. Then, at the cuff, you sew on chocolate-colored fringe in gauntlet fashion. Quick, easy way to a handsome gift.

A stole will make any girl, from teen-age on up, happy on Christmas day. Try one cut from a yard and a half of black cotton satin. Line it with a border of satin-scalloped trimmings in black or white. The stole may be an oblong or a triangle.

Another stole, this one for practical daytime wear, can be done in beige monk's cloth and a triangular shape. Edge it with an all-wool fringe in dark gray. You'll need four yards of the fringe and a yard and a half of monk's cloth. This stole needs no lining, takes minutes to make.

Household gifts appear on almost everyone's list because they're useful. A set of six table mats and center mat are all made of burlap, have an expensive look because of their trim.

Try gull-gray burlap bordered with bushy brown cotton fringe. One-half inch in from the edge of the mat, sew another border of the brown rope trim. These mats, by the way, will launder readily. You'll want two yards of the burlap and 13 of the bushy cotton fringe plus 11 yards of the cord rope.

Lots of people will get guest towels as gifts this year. But if you want your towel gifts to have originality, buy them in a vivid, glowing color and edge them in cotton-knotted cream bedspread fringe. You'll need a yard.

If you can embroider, you might do initials on each in a heavy, cream-colored yarn. Or, try something like "The King" on one towel "And, Me" on the other.

Pig Recovered By Dog Catcher

Dogcatcher W. M. Dye recovered some valuable pork for a Filer housewife Friday.

It all started about 11 a.m. when Dye received a call to the 1300 block of Highland avenue where someone reported hearing dogs barking at a sack along the road. They believed the sack contained another dog which had been there all night.

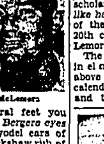

Dye's investigation revealed the sack contained a live pig which a Mrs. Durham, Filer, had purchased about an hour earlier one-fourth of a mile east of the spot where the sack was found. The animal had rolled off her pickup truck. She recovered the animal, still alive.

Museum Tour Gives Traveler Hank Bad Case of Rebel Feet

By HENRY McLEMORE

MEXICO CITY—I woke up this morning with Aztec arches.

Don't worry about me, or air mail me any sickroom goodies, because what I have is a common complaint of tourists to Mexico City.

McLemore

In non-medical terms Aztec arches is nothing but a rebellion of the feet against being made to walk 50 or 60 miles in one day in order that the owner of the feet may study the remains of a long departed civilization.

It's a companion disease to the cathedral feet you get in Rome, the Folies Bergere eyes you get in Paris, the yodel ears of Switzerland, and the rickshaw rub of Hong Kong.

I caught Aztec arches in el museo nacional de Mexico. Those of you who have not mastered Spanish the way I have might like to know that the literal translation is the national museum of Mexico. As I have said time and time again there is nothing like living in a country 72 hours to really become familiar with the language.

It is recognized generally as the greatest museum on the North American continent, but it has one thing in common with all the museums I have ever seen, namely, it is endless. Some time before I die I hope to find the kind of museum that I believe I'd love—one about the size of a breakfast nook, and containing nothing but a tremendously historical Morris chair. Of course, I don't dare dream of the perfect museum—one that is closed from Jan. 1 to Jan. 1.

There is no use in my trying to tell you of all the wondrous things in the museum, but I came out convinced that there is nothing new under the sun. Modern day artisans are doing nothing but copying the designs, patterns and color combinations that the primitive folk were doing centuries ago.

I'd be willing to bet that five or six centuries from now some designer of that day will copy my Norfolk jacket dug up by some scholarly ditch-digger and sell them like hot cakes as an exact duplicate of the ceremonial coat worn by a 20th century noble known as "McLemore the fat."

The most valuable relic on display in el museo nacional de Mexico (see above for translation) is the Aztec calendar stone. It cost me five pesos and the guide a sore throat to explain to me that it is a "huge rectangular parallelopipedon of balsatic porphyry, which weighs 24 tons . . ." It proves that the Indians had reached a degree of civilization far beyond what I, and most American tourists, have right now. It's over our heads, brother.

All joking aside, anyone with a touch of romance in his soul is bound to love the museum here. Once you pass through the doors you live again with Montezuma, Cortez and the whole vivid pageantry of old Mexico.

Soroptimist Club Plans 2 Projects

BURLEY, Dec. 1 — Members of the Soroptimist club decided Wednesday to sponsor two projects for the coming year.

The club will sponsor the Christmas decorations contest for private residents in Burley. The town will be divided into three parts and a prize will be given for the best decorated home in each section. Ellen Male Oberholtzer, president, will appoint a committee to be in charge of this program.

The other project planned is to sponsor a "girl of the month" from the Burley high school. The girl of the month will be chosen on a leadership and scholastic basis by the dean of women at the school. She will be guest of the club and will have an opportunity to become acquainted with business women.

Guests of the club were Mrs. F. H. Robertson and Mrs. James Sutton.

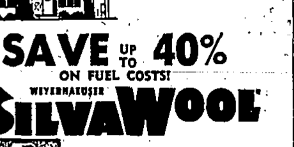

A Christmas party with an exchange of gifts is planned for the next luncheon meeting Dec. 12 at the Elks dining room. Chairman of the program committee is Mrs. E. Corinne Terhune.

Dinner Served by Jerome Grangers

JEROME, Dec. 1—More than 75 persons attended the Idaho products dinner of the Jerome Grange Thursday night at the Grange hall. The program consisted of vocal selections by a women's quartet composed of Mrs. Carl Hughes, Mrs. Armin List, Mrs. Frank McVey and Mrs. E. V. Cooke. Mrs. Cooke also accompanied at the piano.

According to U. S. weather bureau records, the world's record for the most rainfall in one minute, .65 inch, belongs to Opid's camp, Calif.

THE SOUTHSIDE FURNITURE CO'S. PRE-INVENTORY

UNLOADING SALE

WE MUST REDUCE Our Stocks Drastically In Order to Streamline Our 2-Store Operation! This Is Definitely the Greatest, Most Stupendous Sale Ever Staged in the History of the Store!

We're critically overstocked—we MUST reduce our vast inventories NOW in order to save large amounts on our state inventory taxes—and NOW this great saving will be passed on to you in drastic price cuts! Buy at cost and below cost! Save more than you've ever dreamed possible on finest, first-quality, nationally advertised furniture and carpeting! No cost or loss it too great to accomplish this urgent purpose!

OPEN Every Night UNTIL 9 P.M.

We're planning a great new 2-store re-organization that involves incorporation and new principles of more efficient operation. In order to do this we must liquidate a large part of this beautiful stock at once and turn it into cash—CASH to finance incorporation and to avoid paying inventory taxes. In order to do this we're forced to close out numerous items at prices so ridiculously low it will cause a stampede to the doors of the South Side Furniture Co.!
